Traffic Takes 2 Lives In Richland Area

AGED MEN DIE IN 2 MISHAPS, SCORE INJURED

RAIN BOOSTS SUNDAY TOLL

10 Dead in Storm-Swept State; 3 Mansfielders Hurt as Car Skids, Hits Culvert.

Two persons were dead and at least a score injured in and near Richland county as the result of traffic mishaps that claimed 10 lives throughout the rain-swept state over the week-end.

Charles A. Looker, 76, of Bucyrus, a retired railroad engineer, died instantly of a broken neck, at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, when the car in which he was riding as a passenger collided with another on U. S. route 30 N, 15 miles west of Bucyrus.

Hurt at Crossing, Dies.

Also dead in Crawford county was Frank Christmen, 78, of North Robinson, who died at the Crestline Emergency hospital yesterday morning of injuries sustained in an automobile-train crash at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on U. S. route 30 N, east of Crestline, Friday.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Looker was thrown against the front of the machine when his son Richard who was driving pulled onto the highway at an intersection, and into the path of a car driven by John Yoke, of Findlay.

Returning From Reunion.

Young Looker sustained chest injuries while Mrs. Looker and several grandchildren also in the car escaped with minor injuries. The family was returning from Upper Sandusky where they had attended a reunion.

Looker had lived in Bucyrus for several years. Surviving are his wife, Ida Mae, one son, Richard, west of Galion, a daughter, Mrs. Daniel Keiter, of Sulhpur Springs, a brother, Jacob of Columbus, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the Henderson-Lutz funeral home. The time of services has not been set.

Christmen died of internal injuries without regaining consciousness as the result of the accident in which the car he was riding with his son-in-law B. J. Stinehelfer, also of North Robinson, collided with a west-bound passenger train, one mile east of Crestline.

His body was removed to the

$6,000 In Whisky Held By Police 3 Days, Finally Moved

A shipment of 430 cases of whiskey valued at $6,000 which had been held here under a police guard since last Friday following the collision of an interstate freight truck on Park avenue east, was to be moved to the state board of liquor control warehouse in Columbus today.

Officials of the Brady Transfer company, Fort Dodge, Ia., under whose supervision the load was being hauled by the Jaffa Trucking company, Chicago, from New York to Columbus, arranged today with another firm to haul the load to its destination.

Meanwhile the driver of the truck, George L. Lawrence of Chicago, who was convicted on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol in municipal court Saturday and given a 90-day jail sentence and a fine of $100 and costs, was arraigned on a second charge today. He pleaded guilty to displaying an operator's license issued to another person and was fined $10 and costs.

Lawrence appearing before the court this morning asked that his case be reopened, claiming that he had received a bump on the head at the time of the accident and that he was not intoxicated. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch said witnesses in behalf of Lawrence would be heard this afternoon.

In the meantime, Fred Alacca, 275 Park avenue east, whose car was one of four damaged in the collision with the truck filed an attachment against the Jaffa Trucking company, holding the tractor and trailer in payment of $74 damage to his car.

School Head Defies Move To Oust Him

Robinson Asks Accusers to Prove Charges In Redistricting Row.

Charges against Boyd Robinson, Richland county superintendent of schools, involving alleged irregularities in a consolidation movement in Weller and Franklin townships were referred to Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott today as Robinson defied a double-barrelled attempt to oust him.

The prosecutor was asked to investigate the charges after three members of the Union rural school board and F. W. Hunt, a member of the county board, demanded Robinson's resignation Saturday during a three-hour session of the county board at the courthouse.

Robinson, who still has two years to serve under a three-year contract, asked his accusers to prove their charges against him.

It was probable that the investigation would be delayed several days, however, since Prosecutor Marriott is in Canada on a vacation and is not expected back until next week.

Rural Board Asks Resignation.

Appearing at Saturday's session, three members of the Union rural (Weller-Franklin townships) board demanded Robinson's resignation after accusing him of attempting to force re-districting in their townships. The delegation was headed by Ralph Osbun, member from Weller township, who said four or five members of his board opposed Robinson.

At the same time two members of the county board said they would request Robinson's resignation Aug. 1 if the investigation reveals any irregularities.

The protesting members of the Union and county boards said Robinson had represented himself as clerk of the Union board in applying for a $96,000 PWA grant for a proposed $200,000 high school to serve Weller, Franklin, Butler and Bloominggrove townships.

Robinson admitted signing an application for the PWA grant, but contended that Charles W. Marre, New Philadelphia, architect who drafted plans for the building, filled out the applica-

SET TO STRIKE

21 Railroad Unions Oppose Impending Wage Cut.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Twenty-five hundred railroad workers today were "ready and willing" to strike if a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction is made effective on July 1.

This determination was voiced at a meeting here of 21 railroad unions whose members declared a wage slash would be "unjust, unwarranted and a body blow at the social and economic welfare of our country." Mayor F. H. LaGuardia expressed belief no rail pay slash would become operative on July 1.

In the event a strike is declared, he requested the workers to promise that provision be made for getting foodstuffs into New York. The assemblage shouted its assent but the meeting's chairman, John R. Abbott of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, advised the mayor he would be expected to see that strike-breakers did not get the regular workers' jobs.

July 4th Cavalcade To Depict Valley Forge, No Man's Land

Washington at Valley Forge . . . Little Egypt at the Chicago World's Fair . . . American doughboys advancing into No Man's Land . . . Elsie Janis singing to her "boys" in France . . . Lew Dockstader and his minstrel men . . . the barber shop quartet . . . Jenny Lind at Barnum's New York theater . . .

No that isn't a historian's pipe-dream, but a glance at the program of the American cavalcade which will be presented at the Richland county fairground on the Fourth of July.

The cavalcade will be a part of the community celebration which will attract thousands to the fairground throughout the day and evening. It will be as representative of the community as the program presented earlier in the day when various nationality groups, playgrounds and youth orzanizations participate.

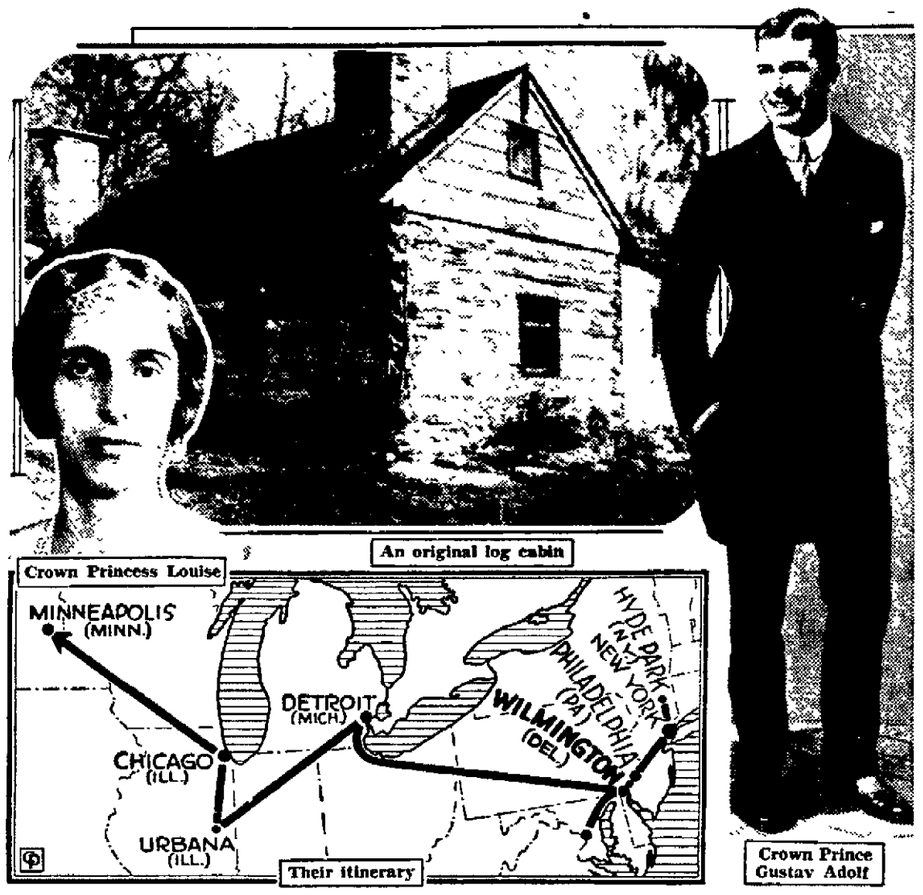
Players from the Mansfield Community Players will take part in the drama episodes of the cavalcade; Edith Fletcher Jameson and her singers' club; the Westinghouse quartet, the Senior High school band, Laurence Todd and his musicians, Harold W. Arlin, a pioneer radio announcer, giving a repetition of his birst broadcast—all of these will be heard in the cavalcade of American history.

And then there will be soldiers and officers from Battery D, Mansfield young people in the dance episodes and the historical tableaux.

The continuity for the cavalcade has been completed by E. J. Wesson, Mansfield historian, and Atty. Herbert Schettler. The first general rehearsal will be held at the fairground Thursday night.

Committees working with J. Gilbert Baird and R. O. Richards, directors of the cavalcade, will meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at 7 p. m. today.

Royal Swedish Visitors Honored in U. S.



Participating in a ceremony today at Wilmington, Del., marking the 300th anniversary of the establishment of New Sweden in the Delaware valley, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and his wife, Crown Princess Louise and their son, were preparing for a 26-day tour of eastern and middle-western United States. President Roosevelt spoke at the Wilmington celebration today Because of a kidney ailment, Crown Prince Gustaf was unable to participate. His place was taken by his son, Prince Bertil, 26. The picture above shows, in addition to the members of the Swedish royal family an original log cabin such as the pioneer Swedish settlers used, and the route to be followed on the tour of this country.

NLRB HEARING GETS UNDERWAY

Ex-Employe Testifies Against Ohio Brass Company; Faces Cross-Quiz This Afternoon.

Hearing of unfair labor practice charges brought against the Ohio Brass company opened here today before Albert L. Lohm, trial examiner for the National Labor Relations board, with the testimony of Tony Colace, 23 St Clair street, a discharged employe.

Colace was the only witness at the first session, which recessed at 11:30 a. m., and testified for two hours under direct questioning by Max W. Johnstone, labor board attorney.

He was expected to be cross-examined by attorneys for the company this afternoon.

The company, in is answer to the complaint filed against it by the union, has denied all charges of unfair labor practices.

In direct testimony, Colace said he had been discharged Nov. 16, 1937, from a job in the hard iron department with several other employes, and that other men who lacked the seniority ranking he possessed had been retained.

Colace said he joined the Electrical union in May, 1937. He said he mailed a membership application he found printed on a pamphlet distributed at the plant and later was contacted by a union organizer to whom he promised assistance to organize company workers. He said he obtained 13 memberships. There were about 800 working at the time, he estimated.

Colace declared that after the group of union members took

President Greets Royal Swedish Guests In U. S.

Accepts Monument Raised By Swedish People on Site of Their First Settlement Here.

(By Associated Press)

WILMINGTON, Del.—President Roosevelt, standing under a rain-drenched canopy, welcomed in "true friendship" today a prince and princess of Swede.

And from them—Prince Bertil and Crown Princess Louise—the chief executive accepted with "profound gratitude" a monument raised by the Swedish people on the spot where the first of their countrymen landed in the New World.

Speaking at the 300th anniversary celebration of the arrival of those colonists at "The Rocks" here, Mr. Roosevelt expressed "keen sorrow" that Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, father of Bertil, could not come ashore.

Crown Prince Ill.

The crown prince, stricken with a kidney ailment, remained on the Swedish liner Kungsholm which brought the royal party across the Atlantic for Swedish-American festivities which extend into July.

Rain, falling steadily through the night and morning, brought a dreary note to the historic scene at the junction of the Christina and Delaware rivers. Decorative flags and bunting sagged.

Although Mr. Roosevelt's brief speech was addressed to "your royal highnesses," he also paid a tribute to the Finns who were represented, too, in the 1638 colonization of Delaware.

"Finland, small in size but mighty in honor, occupies an especially warm place in the

WAIVES JURY

Gangster's Murder Trial to Be Heard by Three Judges.

YOUNGSTOWN—(AP)—The trial of Solly Hart of Cleveland, indicted for the murder of Roy (Happy) Marino, was continued indefinitely today when Hart waived a jury trial.

Hart asked a trial to court with three judges presiding.

Judge Erskine Maiden, jr., said since there was neither a presiding judge nor a chief justice of the common pleas court in Mahoning county, the supreme justice of the state supreme court would be asked to select the trial judges.

"Having tried the two previous cases, I do not consider it proper to sit as a trier of fact in the Hart trial," Judge Maiden said.

Hart is the third to stand trial for Marino's death. Two others, John Antholis, Steubenville, and Herbie Ross, Cleveland, were convicted. The juries recommended mercy.

500 URGE QUICK KIDNAP DEATH

Friends of Cash Family Unite to Demand McCall's Execution.

MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—More than 500 neighbors and friends of the family of the slain Jimmy Cash, jr., were united today in a demand for the speedy execution of the child's kidnaper, Franklin Pierce McCall.

At a meeting called after Rev. A. C. McCall, uncle of the condemned youth, urged support for his clemency plea. A resolution was drawn up in opposition to the move.

The demand the youth be put to death without further delay was sent to the governor, Fred P. Cone and the state pardon board where McCall is scheduled to enter a plea for his life on July 7.

SQUARE AWAY FOR 4-MONTH PRIMARY FIGHT

G. O. P. IN TROUBLE, TOO

Republican Legislators Gun for Hamilton, Head of National Committee.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Both Democrats and Republicans squared away today for four months of political campaigning with internal squabbling biting deeply into organization harmony.

President Roosevelt's frank announcement that he proposes to take a hand in Democratic primaries wherein he considers there is an issue of liberalism at stake (New Deal brand) has materially widened the split between the conservaties and liberals of his party.

Both Have Troubles.

This will become more apparent early next month when Mr. Roosevelt sets out on his transcontinental tour to the Pacific coast. On that trip, he proposes to make a number of speeches to help his friends and discomfort those he regards as having departed from the 1936 platform. It is causing considerable grumbling on the part of those who anticipate being hit.

But the Republicans are having their troubles, too. The Republicans on Capitol Hill, who consider themselves, as officeholders who survived two Roosevelt landslides, the real party spokesmen, are out of step with the national committee, headed by John D. M. Hamilton.

A number of them are gunning for the red-haired Hamilton, and today Rep. Hamilton Fish of New ork, demanded that the national committee should meet and declare the chairmanship vacant until after the November election.

Many Want Change.

While the force of Fish's proposal is somewhat diminished by the fact he has long carried on a feud with Hamilton, nevertheless a number of other Republicans

MARIE APPEALS

Carries Fight to Escape Chair to U. S. Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Blond Anna Marie Hahn, convicted in Cincinnati for the poison murder of aged Jacob Wagner, today appealed to the United States supreme court in a final and desperate effort to escape the fate of being the first woman to die in Ohio's electric chair.

The appeal was from an Ohio supreme court ruling, which sustained Mrs. Hahn's conviction by a jury.

Condemned to die May 4, Mrs. Hahn won a last-minute stay from Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court.

Simultaneously, Dudley M. Outcalt, prosecutor of Hamilton county, filed a motion for dismissal of the appeal. The high court will not act on Mrs. Hahn's petition until October.

CIO ANNOUNCES IT'S FOR SAWYER

Out to Defeat Davey, Swings Support to Opponent.

CANTON—(AP)—The active support of the Committee for Industrial Organization in the campaign of Charles Sawyer for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was indicated today by Edward Lamb, Ohio counsel for the CIO.

Lamb declared in a statement yesterday: "Frankly, we (CIO) are out to defeat (Gov. Martin L.) Davey in the Democratic primaries. There is only one opponent and, of course, we shall back him to the limit."

Davey, who is seeking a third term, and Sawyer are the only Democratic candidates for governor.

ONE KILLED BY OFFICERS AFTER REIGN OF TERROR

Desperadoes Cornered After Shooting Indiana Trooper, Abducting Two Illinois Deputies, Farmer and Son, Staging 3 Gunfights.

DESELM, Ill.—Two deputy sheriffs today shot and killed one of two bandit-brothers responsible for a brief reign of terror in Indiana and Illinois and seized the other after wounding him in the shoulder.

They were trapped in a cornfield when their get-away car became mired after they perhaps mortally wounded Indiana State Policeman Ray Dixon, 28, near Laporte, Ind., last night.

In their mad dash across two states, they had kidnaped three men and a four-year-old boy.

Two hours before they were mowed down in a fierce gun battle, the desperadoes had kidnaped James Novy, a farmer, and his four-year-old son and held them as hostages while they attempted to pierce a police blockade.

Police had barricaded all roads near the northern Indiana-Illinois border after the bandits shot Dixon and then kidnaped two Indiana deputy sheriffs whom they released unharmed eight hours later two miles west of Cook, Ind.

Farmer and Sun Unhurt.

Novy and his son escaped apparently unhurt when the fatal gun battle started.

In their spectacular all-night dash, the gunmen exchanged shots with a state police car at nearby Symerton and a village policeman here before their car finally became mired.

An apparently trivial incident started the chain of circumstances resulting in the shooting and double kidnaping. Dixon went to investigate an auto accident near La Porte, Ind. with him was R. J. Hennings, a news photographer.

Bundling Walter Sanders, 30, of Michigan City, one of the drivers involved, into his patrol car, Dixon headed for La Porte with Hennings at his side.

Officers Shot Down.

Notnig a parked car near U. S. route 20, Dixon halted, intending to aid the two men he saw seated inside it. But as he approached it one of the pair slid out, produced an automatic and opened fire. Dixon fell with two bullets in the stomach and one in his hand.

Hennings fled into a field. Sand-

WHEAT HARDEST HIT BY RAINS

3-inch Fall May Cause Rust, Delay Harvest; Hundreds Imperiled by Storm.

Northern Ohio today surveyed damaged crops and washed out roads after severe rainstorms drenched the area over the week-end, routing a five-day heat wave and delaying the wheat harvest which was due to start this week.

Although cornfields were flooded as a result of the rainfall which measured nearly three inches in some sections, major damage was to the wheat, farmers predicted.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said the heavy wind and rain flattened wheat in some parts of the county and would encourage rust and the shriveling of grain. In the Bowling Green section it was estimated that harvest would be delayed two weeks.

Rainfall in Mansfield during the past 48 hours totaled 2.71 inches and the temperature dropped 26 degrees from 87 Saturday to 51 early today.

Heavy storms yesterday over Lake Erie threatened the lives of hundreds of excursionists and fisherman who were stranded on damaged craft and small islands in the lake.

More than 700 pleasure-seekers were rescued from the excursion steamer, Put-In-Bay, late yesterday after the craft struck a submerged log and was damaged during the storms The excursionists, all from Detroit, spent the night in hotels at Cedar Point and returned home this morning on the steamer, Chippewa.

Britain's Ire Grows as Spaniards Bomb 2 More Ships

PARLIAMENT CLAMORS FOR ACTION ANEW

Revives Attack on 'Realistic' Policy of Chamberlain After Assault on Vessels.

(By Associated Press)

Spanish insurgent bombings, already having provoked an ominous bedlam of threats and counter-threats, echoed anew in London today and taxed the "realistic" stand-off policy of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Two more British freighters were attacked and set afire in the Spanish government ports of Valencia and Alicante with an undetermined number of casualties — the 58th and 59th assaults on British shipping in the nearly two years of the Spanish war.

Ships Set Afire.

Flames which ate through the damaged merchant ships, Arlon and Farnham, added heat to the mounting British opposition to Chamberlain's "realism."

Chamberlain was confronted with clamorous demands in the house of commons that he do something to halt such offenses and quickly. Intent upon "bargaining" with Italy and Germany, insurgent backers, he had refused to retaliate in any way against the insurgent regime.

Diplomatic quarters in Paris and London were inclined to view the Spanish government's threat of aerial reprisals against the insurgents' allies as largely an indirect effort to halt insurgent air raids on government civilian centers.

Insurgent Drive Halted.

Aside from renewed insurgent air raids on the government seaboard, the Spanish war was marked by a halting of the insurgent offensive against Valencia with the attackers themselves on the defensive to hold their gains on the front, about 30 miles from Valencia at the nearest point.

Chinese and Japanese forces were deadlocked in the Yangtze valley about 200 miles by river from Hankow. The burden of the Japanese campaign was shifted to airmen who carried out extensive bombing operations along the river and in south China.

WARN JAPAN

LONDON — (AP) — Britain and France have warned Japan to stay off Hainan island, off the south China coast, and will act to support each other in case "complications" arise, the government informed the house of commons today.

Picks Jail Lock, Escapes 3rd Time In Twelve Days

BELLEFONTAINE — (INS) — Ghastly shadows of Houdini and Thurston haunted Logan county peace officials today as they attempted to pick up the taunting trail of Harold "Happy" Paxson, 31, who escaped from jail for the third time in 12 days.

Paxson made his third successful break Sunday morning after picking the locks on two pairs of handcuffs which fastened him to a chain in a solitary confinement cell. Then he forced open a ventilator shaft and slid down a lightning rod to freedom.

The wily Paxson, who was being held for transfer to Ohio penitentiary, first fled on June 14 and was picked up on June 21 in Circleville after notifying officials, by postcard, that he "would see them in September."

He had not been in jail for more than a day before he beat it through the ventilator shaft on the roof again. On June 24 he was recaptured in Lima, a pair of handcuffs still dangling to one wrist.

Woolworth Heiress Set to Divorce Count

Up and Down THE STREET

Fifty-eight years ago this week Mansfield was vitally interested in the doings of the Republican national convention in Chicago, William A. Duff, widely known Ashland historian and writer, recalls. It was then that U. S. Senator John Sherman of Mansfield was first boomed for the Republican nomination for the presidency. General James A. Garfield presented Sherman's name for nomination, but Garfield was later made the nominee. Sherman was again boomed for the office at the next two conventions, and in 1888 some 2,000 Mansfield supporters made up a Sherman club excursion which was run in three sections to the convention, also held in Chicago, Duff writes.

Something like a snicker was heard above the bridal march at a week-end wedding, although it in no way disturbed the solemnity of the occasion. The organ had just swung into the strains of Wagner's bridal chorus. The ushers, wearing white trousers and dark coats started up the aisle—and the guests noticed that one of them also wore blue and white striped shorts as both the color and the stripes were plainly discernable through his white flannel trousers.

BOARD EVADES TECHNICALITY

County Health Group Elects Butler Mayor to Membership Despite Ruling.

The Richland county board of health evaded a legal technicality at its meeting Saturday afternoon when it elected Mayor J. F. Bumpus of Butler to membership on the board.

The action followed the reading of an attorney general's ruling which said that Bumpus, a member of the district advisory council could not be elected by the same council to fill a vacancy on the board. The advisory council which is comprised of township trustees and mayors of county villages, usually names health board members.

Bumpus' membership on the county health board was challenged by the state health department after his election May 2. The department said that Bumpus by virtue of his office as mayor and being a member of the district council, was not eligible to serve on the health board. Last month the board delayed seating the Butler mayor pending an attorney general's ruling.

C. C. Melleick of Greenwich, a member of the board, moved at Saturday's session that in order to overcome the technicality, Bumpus be elected to the board by the other four members until the next meeting of the advisory council in May, 1939. The vote on the motion was unanimous despite a protest from Dr. Roy C. Rehder, county health commissioner and secretary of the board, who said Bumpus' election would be contrary to the attorney general's ruling.

RESUME SEARCH FOR M'CORMICK

Mountain Climbers Agree Young Heir Fell to His Death.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(U.P.)—Expert mountain climbers, who were driven off the face of Sandia mountain by adverse elements, today planned to resume the search for the body of Medill McCormick, 21-year-old heir to publishing millions, conditions permitting.

Gov. Clyde L. Tingley and the youth's mother, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, have personally directed the search since Friday, but the actual mountain work is being done by experts. Virtually all searchers agreed that McCormick had met death on the precipitous face of the mountain, as did his companion, Richard Whitmer, 20. Whitmer's crushed body was found Friday evening.

PAY RATES FOR 500,000 WPA WORKERS IN SOUTH BOOSTED

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The Works Progress administration raised the wages of 500,000 unskilled WPA workers in 13 southern states today in an attempt to fulfill President Roosevelt's expressed desire for higher wages in the south.

The increases, announced by WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, ranged from $3 to $11 a month, the largest increases being made in the states of Kentucky and Oklahoma.

The announcement was made two weeks after adoption by congress of a national wages and hours bill — awaiting the president's signature—to put a ceiling over hours and floor under wages for all workers in interstate commerce.

Hopkins said that the agency's action was taken at the direction of the president and is pursuant "to a general administration policy of bringing the income levels of the lowest paid workers in the south more nearly in line with the income levels of such workers in other parts of the country."

States affected by the increases are North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas. In four states—Virginia, Oklahoma, Kentucky and North Carolina—adjustments were made in the monthly wages for all WPA workers.

Hopkins said that the new wage scale "means that no one who works in the WPA will receive less than $1 a day in any region."

The official announcement came a few hours after David Lasser, Workers' Alliance president, said that Hopkins and Deputy Administrator Aubrey Williams had agreed to raise southern wages in response to demands of his organization.

OFFERS WPA MEN

Director Says They're Available for Richland Form Work.

Richland county farmers today were offered the services of any man on WPA work, with the privilege of designating their own choice of workers and paying them at the prevailing rate of farm labor, it was announced today in Columbus by J. L. Kelly, director of district six of which Richland county is a part.

Kelly declared that he had many complaints from farmers that they cannot obtain laborers for farm work because all unemployed men are on WPA rolls. He ruled, therefore, that WPA workers must accept farm employment or be dropped from the rolls.

Farmers of Central Ohio were advised today by WPA officials to apply for help to the National Re-Employment offices nearest them. The Mansfield office, 55 North Diamond, is headquarters for Richland, Crawford and Morrow counties.

BARBARA PLANS TO OPPOSE ANY CASH PAYMENT

Expatriated American Also to Demand Custody of Son, Attorney Asserts.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Countess Barbara Von Haugwitz-Reventlow, $40,000,000 five-and-ten heiress, today was well on the way towards her second divorce.

And the likelihood is that Count Kurt, her Danish husband, will get neither a monetary settlement nor custody of their son, Lance, the two-year-old boy who seems to be the center of their differences.

The exact status of the complicated legal maneuvering now going on between the Count and Countess was revealed today on authority of Henning Repsdorph, the Danish expert on international law, who is continuing his study of Barbara's case.

Application Due Soon.

She plans to make formal application for judicial separation from Kurt in the Copenhagen courts, probably within the next ten days, according to Repsdorph.

Providing there is no reconciliation, which at present is considered doubtful, she will seek a divorce after the expiration of the legal separation period of 18 months, said the attorney. The Countess, the former Barbara Hutton, married Von Haugwitz-Reventlow in Reno after she was divorced from Prince Alexis Mdivani.

She Won't Ask Alimony!

"The Countess will ask for custody of the child," said Repsdorph, "and there is not the slightest doubt that the courts will grant her application, since it is the ordinary practice in Denmark to give the mother care of the children in any marriage.

"The matter of a financial settlement will be decided by the court. Naturally, the Countess will not seek alimony.

"If the court feels that each party has enough on which to live, there will be no monetary settlement on either side."

Count Kurt has profitable estates in Denmark and, according to reports at the time, Barbara settled $1,000,000 on him when they were married.

DOCTOR, 50, DIES

C. A. Shafer Was Native of Bellville; Rites Wednesday.

BELLVILLE—Dr. Chase Adam Shafer, 50, of Chester, W. Va., a native of Bellville, died at his home in Chester Sunday following a brief illness.

Mr. Shafer, who left here 17 years ago is survived by two brothers, Wayne of Chicago and Blake of Bellville, niece, Margaret Shafer of Chicago and two aunts, Jane Walters and Ella Traul. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and St. Paul's Lutheran church in Bellville.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Chester and at 4 p. m. Wednesday here at St. Paul's church in charge of Rev. Joseph O'Morrow. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

Steubenville Killer Goes to Pen's Revamped Death Chair.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Three guards will pull the switches on Ohio penitentiary's new automatic voltage control system tonight and Tom Williams, colored, of Steubenville, will pay with his life for the murder of Reuben I. Mirvis, who was a synagogue caretaker in Steubenville.

French Gasoline-Motored Trains To Use Wood Substitute.

PARIS—(AP)—French gasoline-motored autorail trains will soon be powered almost exclusively by "gasogene," a fuel made from wood.

Trial runs by suburban trains have shown railroad officials that the new fuel is practical and can be made cheaper than gasoline for such traffic.

GEN. JOHNSON:

Business Has Chance To Get Politicians Off Its Neck If It Will Be Smart

—By HUGH S. JOHNSON

BETHANY BEACH, DEL.—In 1933, the bankers were deepest in the doghouse of popular disapproval. The long and deliberate assault of politicians on business hasn't beaten it down in public opinion as far as the bankers were in 1933, but it has had its effect.

Millions of people sincerely believe that business—especially big business—is at heart opposed to all social reform, cares for nothing but profits and, if not restrained by Mr. Roosevelt, would grind the faces of the poor, starve the unemployed and let the country go to hell.

* * *

There have been unwise words and actions by Tory die-hards—enough to give all the color that is needed by a political business-baiting demagogue to make a case against all business. That case is prejudiced, one-sided and only partly true but it has been so well and persistently presented that many people believe it. Various recent polls indicate that a majority believes it.

As long as it is a majority, business can expect the political bastinado to continue, for such is—and ought to be—politics in a democracy.

* * *

The banking brothers have pretty well bailed themselves out of the bad graces of the people. It is high time for business to do the same and it is an excellent time to try. Business has scraped the bottom of this depression. All the Indian signs say it is on the way up. If business doesn't grab the anchor ropes with a hearty yo-heave-ho, the politicians will say they "planned it that way" and that business is impotent or worse—a clog on prosperity.

On the other hand, if business will itself forget politics and get sensibly behind this revival, maybe it can convince the country that, after all, it lives on business, can prosper only with business, and can expect from any government policy that destroys business, only danger and disaster.

* * *

What can business do? It is not easy for it to act together because by our laws it is forbidden to do so. But the sprawling disconnected thing called business does respond to the acts and utterances of its leading figures. During the anti-monopoly inquisition this summer they are going to have a fine chance both to act and to utter.

An overwhelming majority in this country is for collective bargaining and independent representation for labor, against low wages and rigid prices on too high a level and for the principle of reasonable security against unemployment and old age.

If business leaders took the very van in advancing these popular principles, instead of giving even the appearance of opposing them, there wouldn't be any ground left to continue the political attack.

* * *

On the question of prices—as the upswing proceeds, business big shots by both words and action should resist mark-ups until they become absolutely unavoidable. They should let the country know that they are doing this.

Upswings are always marked by increased activity in labor organization and strikes. This time business should put the responsibility on the labor laws — one-sided though they are—and, by loyal, ungrudging compliance instead of resistance, try to make them work and perfect them.

* * *

In the "monopoly" inquiry, business should present its side of the case with the greatest of care but not on any theory that government must keep its hands completely off our complex structure of vast business provinces and principalities. The public is going to have more say in these private economic governments. Business should be first to suggest how this can best be done with the least harm.

Hollywood Speaks---

By ROBBIN COONS

It's listed among the sandwiches on the studio commissary menu, but it might be a formula for a musical: "Warner Bros. Special (Ham and Cheese and Chicken on Toast)" . . . The Critics' Special (unlisted) should be Roast Ham with Beef.

* * *

Speaking of beef, our recent one on the "press preview" situation found its best justification at the "Blockade" preview, although that was a picture worth standing for as we (arriving late) did along with other tardy press men. . . . The word got around that here was a picture that SAID something, and the promise was so unusual that Hollywood, unaccustomed as it is to that sort of thing, stormed the theater and the whole business got out of hand. . . . Other standees: Harry Cohn, of rival Columbia, and Walter Wanger, who made the picture.

A young writer friend of ours has been pounding at the studio gates for years, crashing only the "Indies" and a few air programs. "Ever get discouraged?" we asked solicitously. Never, said he.

"You see," he explained, "if I allowed myself to think dismally for a moment I'd be sunk. . . . What keeps me going, though, is the fact that when I do get something on the screen or air the audience laughs at the right places, and cries at the right places."

* * *

"Well, doesn't that convince producers?" we inquired innocently.

"That's just it," said he. "It's like a fellow who can't get a job without experience and can't get experience without a job. Vicious circle."

"Then what—?"

"What's the use, you're going to ask? Well, some day I'll slip up on 'em and click—break through the circle."

I think he will, at that.

Let's Make Ice Cream For Hot Days

By PAULINE SCHOFIELD
Home Service Department, Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

Hot summer days and thoughts about cool foods invariably bring to mind new frozen dessert creations. Ice cream can be the perfect dessert for a formal party or the casual after thought in a family emergency. It tops the list for good looks, yet is packed with practical food values.

Maple Pecan Ice Cream.

15 marshmallows
¼ cups cane and maple sugar
½ cup water
1½ tablespoon lemon juice
⅓ cup pecans, cut finely
½ pint whiping cream
Pinch salt.

Put marshmallows, syrup, and water in pan and steam over hot water until marshmallows are melted. Remove from range, add lemon juice, pecans, and salt and set aside to cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, add the cream whipped and put into tray to freeze.

Toasted Coconut Ice Cream.

½ package (scant ⅓ cup) unflavored ice cream powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup cream, whipped
4 drops almond extract
½ cup shred cocoanut, toasted

Combine ice cream powder and sugar. Add milk very gradually, stirring until dissolved. Fold in whipped cream and almond. Turn into tray, adding cocoanut during the third stirring. Makes about ¾ quart.

English Toffee Ice Cream.

1 can sweetened condensed milk
½ cup cold coffee infusion
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
1½ cups whipping cream (whipped)
¾ pound chocolate-covered English toffee (ground)

Combine milk, coffee infusion, and vanilla extract and blend thoroughly. Then fold in the whipped cream and the ground toffee. Pour in freezing tray of refrigerator. Stir twice during the freezing period.

Virginia Strawberry Mold.

Cream 1 pound butter until soft; gradually add 2½ cups sugar; cream smooth. Add 1 quart berries hulled, washed, and quartered, and 1 cup broken pecans. Mix well; fold in 3 stiff-beaten egg whites. line dish with broken vanilla wafers; add layer of strawberry mixture; continue alternate layers, having broken wafers on top. Chill 12 hours. Cut into squares; serve with whipped cream; and garnish with a whole strawberry.

Rhubard and Strawberry Ice.

1 pint fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains of salt
1½ cups sugar
½ cup evaporated milk, undiluted.

Clean and wash the berries and mash. Put rhubarb and berries through sieve or colander. Add all other ingredients, pour into freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze. Serve in sherbet glasses immediately. Serves 6.

Peanut Brittle Bisque.

2 Tablespoons minute tapioca
2 Cups milk, scalded
½ Teaspoon salt
4 Tablespoons light corn syrup
2 Tablespoons sugar
2 Egg whites
1 Cup cream, whipped
1 Teaspoon vanilla
½ Pound peanut brittle, finely crushed or ground

Add minute tapioca to milk and cook in double boiler 15 minutes or until tapioca is clear and mixture thickened, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve. Add salt and corn syrup and mix thoroughly. Cool. Add sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream, vanilla and peanut brittle. Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible.

Use freshly-made coffee of double strength for iced coffee. Pour it while it is steaming over cracked ice placed in tall glasses. Add a dash of whipped cream and sprinkle the cream with cinnamon for a decorative touch.

Directions For A Safe Fourth of July

The Fourth of July is a traditionally favorite day for all varieties of celebrations, and with some of the dainty canapes and iced coffee as shown above you can have a bang-up party without the danger of explosives to mar the occasion. Pinwheels like those shown are made by slicing a loaf of bread lengthwise spreading it with jelly or cream cheese, rolling, wrapping and chilling, then cutting crosswise. The fire crackers are slices of bread filled with a sandwich spread, rolled and topped with a pimiento fuse. Those stars were made with a cookie cutter spread with creamed cheese and nuts and topped with stuffed olive and the stripes are plain slices of bread spread with liverwurst paste and topped with strips of pimiento.

Celebrate Independence With Gay, Patriotic Get-Togethers

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Salute the Fourth this year with a tea or cocktail party. Trays of colorful canapes and baskets of intriguing sandwiches will give a sparkle to the serving table from which iced coffee, tea, punch, or cocktails are dispensed.

Decorations, of course, will go patriotic. Arrange a centerpiece of red, white and blue flowers in a low basket or bowl for instance. Or stick silk flags in a flower holder, set in a shallow dish. You might even borrow the children's toy cannons and soldiers to make up a fort.

Canapes, usually the "eat-in-one-bite" morsels, give your imagination a chance to run rampant on shapes and flavors. You should make dozens and dozens because guests will like these tid-bits.

If hot canapes are on the menu, it's advisable to bake them in installments, so the supply will always be warm. For surprises, wrap one-inch pastry strips around small frankfurters, tiny hamburger balls, or squares of ham. Bake for seven minutes. They are appealing partners for hot or cold beverages.

Another suggestion —spread a half-inch sheet of biscuit dough with savory creamed crab, tuna, or ham mixture. Cover with another thin sheet of dough. Cut into one-inch squares and quickly press the edges together with a fork, giving several pricks to the top. Pop these into a moderate oven five minutes before they are to be served.

Biscuits an inch in diameter are excellent containers for cavier and anchovies. While the biscuits are piping hot, remove the centers and stuff them. Creamed mushrooms and ham may also be used.

For a Norwegian angle, spread toast bits with sardines mixed with mayonnaise, minced green peppers and parsley, and a dash of Worcestershire sauce. Garnish with chopped beets and cress. Or mix sardines with lemon juice, minced olives and parsley. Spread the combination over crackers and garnish with chopped olives and pimientos.

To lend a gay note to the table, cover a large platter with crisp cress and top it with chilled shrimps on wooden picks. At either end of the platter set a bright pottery bowl. Fill one with mayonnaise and the other with chili sauce and catsup, mixed. Outline with small cheese biscuits and toast points covered with Roquefort cheese.

A tray of icy-crisp vegetables, contrasting in colors and shapes, gives a cooling effect. Heap carrot strips, cauliflower flowerets, cucumber fingers, radish roses and spring onions. Center the tray with a large eggplant or cabbage, hollowed out and filled with a small bowl of cocktail sauce. The guests may then dip their own.

Keep a full cooky jar for the youngsters. Plain sugar, cocoanut, ginger or chocolate cookies are very good—and easy to make. You can save time by dropping the dough from the tip of a spoon onto a greased baking sheet or by spreading a thin layer of dough in a shallow, greased pan and cutting it into squares after it is baked.

To help prevent meringue on cream or fruit-filled pies from shrinking during cooking, see that it covers the entire top of the pie and touches the rim of the crust. Bake the meringue for about 15 minutes in a slow oven and keep it out of a draft while it is cooling.

Never put woodenware directly over the heat to dry. That causes the wood to warp, and perhaps to crack. Thoroughly dry it, however, before putting it in a cupboard, since it may mildew if you store it too soon. Let it stand in a room of moderate temperature, or near the stove.

Chill caramels before you remove their paper coverings. If the caramels are warm the papers are apt to stick tenaciously to the candy.

Kitchen Hints

Summertime means tea stains. To remove such stains from linens moisten them with cold water and cover them with borax. Let the linen stand 20 minutes or so, then pour a kettle of boiling water through the stain, holding the kettle about two feet above the stain. Continue until the stain disappears. This process may be used to remove fruit stains.

Breakfast or luncheon note: Select long, slender rolls, cut them in half and remove part of the centers. Spread the hollowed cases with butter. Break one egg into each half roll, sprinkle it with salt, pepper and celery salt and add a dot of butter. Bake or broil until a white film forms over the top. Rolls may also be used as cases for creamed or buttered foods.

To prepare mint for storing in a covered jar, wash it well in boiling water, then shake off as much water as possible and spread the mint in a shallow pan. Heat it slowly until it is well dried, then break it up with the fingers and put it in the jar. You'll have mint that may be used for flavoring sauces, meats or salads.

Want a piquant, crusty covering for your meat loaf? Mix half a cup of brown sugar, three tablespoons of catsup, one teaspoon nutmeg and one teaspoon of dry mustard and spread it over the loaf just before putting it in the oven. This amount will cover a two-pound loaf.

Sprinkle fritters with confectioner's sugar—to give them a rich glaze. As soon as they are fried apply the sugar generously. Then broil the fritters under a low heat—or bake them until the sugar melts into the desired coating. Waffles and pancakes may be glazed this way, too.

Do your meringues fall? Add a fourth of teaspoonful of cream of tartar for each two egg whites used. Combine the cream of tartar with the sugar called for in the recipe. The meringue may be added to the mixture when it is stiff enough to form in peaks.

Here are the quantities of several kinds of nuts you should buy in the shell if you want to get three and a half cups of nutmeats: Almonds, three and a half pounds; filberts, two and a fourth pounds; peanuts, a pound and a half; pecans and English walnuts, two and a half pounds.

Flavor changes: Add chopped pimientos to cooked peas or green beans. Mix chopped green peppers and onion in egg omelet. Put a few diced sweet pickles in fish loaves.

Keep a bit of starch handy in the refrigerator during the summer to freshen summer clothes when you press them.

PARLIAMENT CLAMORS FOR ACTION ANEW

Revives Attack on 'Realistic' Policy of Chamberlain After Assault on Vessels.

(By Associated Press)

Spanish insurgent bombings, already having provoked an ominous bedlam of threats and counter-threats, echoed anew in London today and taxed the "realistic" stand-off policy of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Two more British freighters were attacked and set afire in the Spanish government ports of Valencia and Alicante with an undetermined number of casualties — the 58th and 59th assaults on British shipping in the nearly two years of the Spanish war.

Ships Set Afire.

Flames which ate through the damaged merchant ships, Arlon and Farnham, added heat to the mounting British opposition to Chamberlain's "realism."

Chamberlain was confronted with clamorous demands in the house of commons that he do something to halt such offenses and quickly. Intent upon "bargaining" with Italy and Germany, insurgent backers, he had refused to retaliate in any way against the insurgent regime.

Diplomatic quarters in Paris and London were inclined to view the Spanish government's threat of aerial reprisals against the insurgents' allies as largely an indirect effort to halt insurgent air raids on government civilian centers.

Insurgent Drive Halted.

Aside from renewed insurgent air raids on the government seaboard, the Spanish war was marked by a halting of the insurgent offensive against Valencia with the attackers themselves on the defensive to hold their gains on the front, about 30 miles from Valencia at the nearest point.

Chinese and Japanese forces were deadlocked in the Yangtze valley about 200 miles by river from Hankow. The burden of the Japanese campaign was shifted to airmen who carried out extensive bombing operations along the river and in south China.

WARN JAPAN

LONDON — (AP) — Britain and France have warned Japan to stay off Hainan island, off the south China coast, and will act to support each other in case "complications" arise, the government informed the house of commons today.

Picks Jail Lock, Escapes 3rd Time In Twelve Days

BELLEFONTAINE — (INS) — Ghastly shadows of Houdini and Thurston haunted Logan county peace officials today as they attempted to pick up the taunting trail of Harold "Happy" Paxson, 31, who escaped from jail for the third time in 12 days.

Paxson made his third successful break Sunday morning after picking the locks on two pairs of handcuffs which fastened him to a chain in a solitary confinement cell. Then he forced open a ventilator shaft and slid down a lightning rod to freedom.

The wily Paxson, who was being held for transfer to Ohio penitentiary, first fled on June 14 and was picked up on June 21 in Circleville after notifying officials, by postcard, that he "would see them in September."

He had not been in jail for more than a day before he beat it through the ventilator shaft on the roof again. On June 24 he was recaptured in Lima, a pair of handcuffs still dangling to one wrist.

Woolworth Heiress Set to Divorce Count

Up and Down THE STREET

Fifty-eight years ago this week Mansfield was vitally interested in the doings of the Republican national convention in Chicago, William A. Duff, widely known Ashland historian and writer, recalls. It was then that U. S. Senator John Sherman of Mansfield was first boomed for the Republican nomination for the presidency. General James A. Garfield presented Sherman's name for nomination, but Garfield was later made the nominee. Sherman was again boomed for the office at the next two conventions, and in 1888 some 2,000 Mansfield supporters made up a Sherman club excursion which was run in three sections to the convention, also held in Chicago, Duff writes.

Something like a snicker was heard above the bridal march at a week-end wedding, although it in no way disturbed the solemnity of the occasion. The organ had just swung into the strains of Wagner's bridal chorus. The ushers, wearing white trousers and dark coats started up the aisle—and the guests noticed that one of them also wore blue and white striped shorts as both the color and the stripes were plainly discernable through his white flannel trousers.

For those who like to go frog hunting, route 30, about a mile south of Mifflin, becomes a hunter's paradise whenever it rains, four Mansfielders who drove over that stretch of road during the rain Saturday night reported. They said hundreds of frogs were jumping back and forth across the highway near Mifflin, where the water from the Charles Mill dam backs up near the highway.

Two Mansfield "war brides" are the speakers on the FIDAC program tonight at the American Lexion auxiliary. They are Mrs. Walter L. Hill, 290 East Second street, and Mrs. Floyd Buzzard, Madison township. Both were married to American soldiers during the World war and came to Mansfield with them at the end of the war. Mrs. Hill's home was at St. Nazaire and Mrs. Buzzard lived near Marseilles. The two women will tell of living conditions and customs in France before the war.

GROTTO LEAVES

Mansfield Officers, Members Off for Cleveland Parley.

Officers and a number of members of the Grotto went to Cleveland today for the opening of the International Grotto convention which is being held there this week and which is expected to attract about 10,000 representatives.

Mansfield officers who will march with the local delegation in the parade tomorrow are Arthur Croak, Lloyd Schuck, Frank May and Fred Garinger.

Wednesday night will be annual "ceremonial night." Enterainment will include the Ohio beauty contest in which Miss Ohio and Miss Cleveland will be chosen.

Final sessions are held on Thursday.

County Health Group Elects Butler Mayor to Membership Despite Ruling.

The Richland county board of health evaded a legal technicality at its meeting Saturday afternoon when it elected Mayor J. F. Bumpus of Butler to membership on the board.

The action followed the reading of an attorney general's ruling which said that Bumpus, a member of the district advisory council could not be elected by the same council to fill a vacancy on the board. The advisory council which is comprised of township trustees and mayors of county villages, usually names health board members.

Bumpus' membership on the county health board was challenged by the state health department after his election May 2. The department said that Bumpus by virtue of his office as mayor and being a member of the district council, was not eligible to serve on the health board. Last month the board delayed seating the Butler mayor pending an attorney general's ruling.

C. C. Melleick of Greenwich, a member of the board, moved at Saturday's session that in order to overcome the technicality, Bumpus be elected to the board by the other four members until the next meeting of the advisory council in May, 1939. The vote on the motion was unanimous despite a protest from Dr. Roy C. Rehder, county health commissioner and secretary of the board, who said Bumpus' election would be contrary to the attorney general's ruling.

RESUME SEARCH FOR M'CORMICK

Mountain Climbers Agree Young Heir Fell to His Death.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(U.P.)—Expert mountain climbers, who were driven off the face of Sandia mountain by adverse elements, today planned to resume the search for the body of Medill McCormick, 21-year-old heir to publishing millions, conditions permitting.

Gov. Clyde L. Tingley and the youth's mother, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, have personally directed the search since Friday, but the actual mountain work is being done by experts. Virtually all searchers agreed that McCormick had met death on the precipitous face of the mountain, as did his companion, Richard Whitmer, 20. Whitmer's crushed body was found Friday evening.

PAY RATES FOR 500,000 WPA WORKERS IN SOUTH BOOSTED

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The Works Progress administration raised the wages of 500,000 unskilled WPA workers in 13 southern states today in an attempt to fulfill President Roosevelt's expressed desire for higher wages in the south.

The increases, announced by WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, ranged from $3 to $11 a month, the largest increases being made in the states of Kentucky and Oklahoma.

The announcement was made two weeks after adoption by congress of a national wages and hours bill — awaiting the president's signature—to put a ceiling over hours and floor under wages for all workers in interstate commerce.

Hopkins said that the agency's action was taken at the direction of the president and is pursuant "to a general administration policy of bringing the income levels of the lowest paid workers in the south more nearly in line with the income levels of such workers in other parts of the country."

States affected by the increases are North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina; Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas. In four states—Virginia, Oklahoma, Kentucky and North Carolina—adjustments were made in the monthly wages for all WPA workers.

Hopkins said that the new wage scale "means that no one who works in the WPA will receive less than $1 a day in any region."

The official announcement came a few hours after David Lasser, Workers' Alliance president, said that Hopkins and Deputy Administrator Aubrey Williams had agreed to raise southern wages in response to demands of his organization.

OFFERS WPA MEN

Director Says They're Available for Richland Form Work.

Richland county farmers today were offered the services of any man on WPA work, with the privilege of designating their own choice of workers and paying them at the prevailing rate of farm labor, it was announced today in Columbus by J. L. Kelly, director of district six of which Richland county is a part.

Kelly declared that he had many complaints from farmers that they cannot obtain laborers for farm work because all unemployed men are on WPA rolls. He ruled, therefore, that WPA workers must accept farm employment or be dropped from the rolls.

Farmers of Central Ohio were advised today by WPA officials to apply for help to the National Re-Employment offices nearest them. The Mansfield office, 55 North Diamond, is headquarters for Richland, Crawford and Morrow counties.

BARBARA PLANS TO OPPOSE ANY CASH PAYMENT

Expatriated American Also to Demand Custody of Son, Attorney Asserts.

(By International News Service)

LONDON — Countess Barbara Von Haugwitz-Reventlow, $40,000,000 five-and-ten heiress, today was well on the way towards her second divorce.

And the likelihood is that Count Kurt, her Danish husband, will get neither a monetary settlement nor custody of their son, Lance, the two-year-old boy who seems to be the center of their differences.

The exact status of the complicated legal maneuvering now going on between the Count and Countess was revealed today on authority of Henning Repsdorph, the Danish expert on international law, who is continuing his study of Barbara's case.

Application Due Soon.

She plans to make formal application for judicial separation from Kurt in the Copenhagen courts, probably within the next ten days, according to Repsdorph.

Providing there is no reconciliation, which at present is considered doubtful, she will seek a divorce after the expiration of the legal separation period of 18 months, said the attorney. The Countess, the former Barbara Hutton, married Von Haugwitz-Reventlow in Reno after she was divorced from Prince Alexis Mdivani.

She Won't Ask Alimony!

"The Countess will ask for custody of the child," said Repsdorph, "and there is not the slightest doubt that the courts will grant her application, since it is the ordinary practice in Denmark to give the mother care of the children in any marriage.

"The matter of a financial settlement will be decided by the court. Naturally, the Countess will not seek alimony.

"If the court feels that each party has enough on which to live, there will be no monetary settlement on either side."

Count Kurt has profitable estates in Denmark and, according to reports at the time, Barbara settled $1,000,000 on him when they were married.

DOCTOR, 50, DIES

C. A. Shafer Was Native of Bellville; Rites Wednesday.

BELLVILLE—Dr. Chase Adam Shafer, 50, of Chester, W. Va., a native of Bellville, died at his home in Chester Sunday following a brief illness.

Mr. Shafer, who left here 17 years ago is survived by two brothers, Wayne of Chicago and Blake of Bellville, niece, Margaret Shafer of Chicago and two aunts, Jane Walters and Ella Traul. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and St. Paul's Lutheran church in Bellville.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Chester and at 4 p. m. Wednesday here at St. Paul's church in charge of Rev. Joseph O'Morrow. Burial will be in Bellville cemetery.

GEN. JOHNSON:

Business Has Chance To Get Politicians Off Its Neck If It Will Be Smart

—By HUGH S. JOHNSON

BETHANY BEACH, DEL.—In 1933, the bankers were deepest in the doghouse of popular disapproval. The long and deliberate assault of politicians on business hasn't beaten it down in public opinion as far as the bankers were in 1933, but it has had its effect.

Millions of people sincerely believe that business—especially big business—is at heart opposed to all social reform, cares for nothing but profits and, if not restrained by Mr. Roosevelt, would grind the faces of the poor, starve the unemployed and let the country go to hell.

* * *

There have been unwise words and actions by Tory die-hards—enough to give all the color that is needed by a political business-baiting demagogue to make a case against all business. That case is prejudiced, one-sided and only partly true but it has been so well and persistently presented that many people believe it. Various recent polls indicate that a majority believes it.

As long as it is a majority, business can expect the political bastinado to continue, for such is—and ought to be—politics in a democracy.

* * *

The banking brothers have pretty well bailed themselves out of the bad graces of the people. It is high time for business to do the same and it is an excellent time to try. Business has scraped the bottom of this depression. All the Indian signs say it is on the way up. If business doesn't grab the anchor ropes with a hearty yo-heave-ho, the politicians will say they "planned it that way" and that business is impotent or worse—a clog on prosperity.

On the other hand, if business will itself forget politics and get sensibly behind this revival, maybe it can convince the country that, after all, it lives on business, can prosper only with business, and can expect from any government policy that destroys business, only danger and disaster.

* * *

What can business do? It is not easy for it to act together because by our laws it is forbidden to do so. But the sprawling disconnected thing called business does respond to the acts and utterances of its leading figures. During the anti-monopoly inquisition this summer they are going to have a fine chance both to act and to utter.

An overwhelming majority in this country is for collective bargaining and independent representation for labor, against low wages and rigid prices on too high a level and for the principle of reasonable security against unemployment and old age.

If business leaders took the very van in advancing these popular principles, instead of giving even the appearance of opposing them, there wouldn't be any ground left to continue the political attack.

* * *

On the question of prices—as the upswing proceeds, business big shots by both words and action should resist mark-ups until they become absolutely unavoidable. They should let the country know that they are doing this.

Upswings are always marked by increased activity in labor organization and strikes. This time business should put the responsibility on the labor laws — one-sided though they are—and, by loyal, ungrudging compliance instead of resistance, try to make them work and perfect them.

* * *

In the "monopoly" inquiry, business should present its side of the case with the greatest of care but not on any theory that government must keep its hands completely off our complex structure of vast business provinces and principalities. The public is going to have more say in these private economic governments. Business should be first to suggest how this can best be done with the least harm.

Hollywood Speaks---

By ROBBIN COONS

It's listed among the sandwiches on the studio commissary menu, but it might be a formula for a musical: "Warner Bros. Special (Ham and Cheese and Chicken on Toast)" . . . The Critics' Special (unlisted) should be Roast Ham with Beef.

* * *

Speaking of beef, our recent one on the "press preview" situation found its best justification at the "Blockade" preview, although that was a picture worth standing for as we (arriving late) did along with other tardy press men. . . . The word got around that here was a picture that SAID something, and the promise was so unusual that Hollywood, unaccustomed as it is to that sort of thing, stormed the theater and the whole business got out of hand. . . . Other standees: Harry Cohn, of rival Columbia, and Walter Wanger, who made the picture.

A young writer friend of ours has been pounding at the studio gates for years, crashing only the "Indies" and a few air programs. "Ever get discouraged?" we asked solicitously. Never, said he.

"You see," he explained, "if I allowed myself to think dismally for a moment I'd be sunk. . . . What keeps me going, though, is the fact that when I do get something on the screen or air the audience laughs at the right places, and cries at the right places."

* * *

"Well, doesn't that convince producers?" we inquired innocently.

"That's just it," said he. "It's like a fellow who can't get a job without experience and can't get experience without a job. Vicious circle."

"Then what—?"

"What's the use, you're going to ask? Well, some day I'll slip up on 'em and click—break through the circle."

I think he will, at that.

Feller, Allen and Averill Picked on Club to Face Nationals in Mid-Summer Classic.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(AP Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Cincinnati fans who turn out for the interleague all-star game at Redland field a week from Wednesday will see a lot of familiar figures in new roles. For the Reds are leading the National league's youth movement in an effort to end the rival circuit's string of victories in the mid-summer classic.

Five Cincinnati players were chosen by vote of the eight National league managers for places on the squad of 23 men, announced today. And only one of them ever has taken part in an all-star game. In addition, Bill Terry of the New York Giants, who will manage the team, picked Will McKechnie, Cincinnati manager, as one of his coaches.

Four Giants on Team.

The rest of the squad, including four players each from the Chicago Cubs and three each from Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, follows the same lines. In contrast to the American league squad, featuring the same veteran sluggers who have won four of the five previous clashes, the National features newcomers. Only 10 of the 23 players have appeared in all-star contests and only the Cubs' hardy perennial, Catcher Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, has been in all of them.

The American leaguers offer two players, Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees and Charley Gehringer, Detroit second baseman, who have played in every game, as well as Lefty Gomez who has pitched four times and was a member of the squad the other year.

The all-star squads:

Manager — Joe McCarthy, New York. Coaches—Art Fletcher, New York, and Del Baker, Detroit. Batting practice pitcher — Dave Keefe, Philadelphia. Batting practice catcher—John Schulte, New York. Trainer—Doc Painter, New York.

NATIONAL LEAGUE: Pitchers—John Vander Meer and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati; Carl Hubbell, New York; Bill Lee, Chicago; Jim Turner, Boston; Mace Brown, Pittsburgh. Catchers—Leo Hartnett, Chicago; Ernie Lombardi, Cincinnati; Gordon Phelps, Brooklyn. Infielders—Frank McCormick, Cincinnati; Billy Herman and Stanley Hack, Chicago; Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh; Leo Durocher and Harry Levagetto, Brooklyn; Tony Cuccinello, Boston. Outfielders— Joe Medwick, St. Louis; Hershel Martin, Philadelphia; Ival Goodman, Cincinnati; Mel Ott, Joe Moore and Hank Leiber, New York; Llyod Waner, Pittsburgh.

Reformatory Club Defeats Sandusky, 2-1

Mastermateo's Homer Ends Mound Duel.

Mastermateo's home run with a mate on base in the sixth inning enabled the Mansfield Reformatory baseball club to come from behind and defeat the Sandusky Amburn's, 2 to 1, in a pitchers' battle at the Reformatory Saturday.

The Inmates, trailing 1 to 0 going into the sixth, started their winning rally after one was out. Blaney singled and then Mastermateo came through with his timely circuit clout.

Both Graves, the invaders hurler, and Menefee were in splendid form. The moundsmen gave up five hits apiece. Graves handed out one walk and struck out 14, while Menefee walked three and whiffed 11.

Sandusky, which recently defeated the Mansfield Hi-Speeds in a doubleheader, tallied its lone run in the second inning on a single, a stolen base and a double by Bassetti.

Mastermateo paced the winners with two hits and Herman collected a brace of singles to lead the Amburn's attack.

Johns, North Parks Scenes Of City League Games Today

MUCH can happen between now and July 11 when the first half of the City Class A softball league season is completed, but the Johns park representatives apear to be good bets to come through.

Manager John Flockenzier's Johnnies do not own an unsurmountable lead, but they have shown enough so far in the season to throw fear into their rivals.

The Johnnies have defeated every team once, and today they start on the second round on their home field.

Their opponent will be Liberty park, which lost a one-run decision to the Johnsmen in the first game of the season. In an effort to keep their slate clean, Jim Fullager will probably toe the mound for the Johnnies, with Joe Bush the likely Liberty hurler.

The Richland County Fish and Game team of North park will attempt to regain its winning stride on its diamond today. The Sportsmen's only defeat was suffered in a game with Johns park last week.

Prospect park has not won a league game this season, and is overdo.

M'Carthy Wins Golf Crown

COLUMBUS —(INS)—A great comeback on the final three holes today had brought Cincinnati's Maurice McCarthy, jr., his second Ohio amateur golf crown in as many years and his third in four attempts.

Playing in the finals at Scioto Country club against Charles Carl, Ravenna, captain of Ohio State university's golf team, McCarthy found himself three down at the end of 26 holes.

However, experience told as the round neared its end and the match was all square on the 34th green. A three on the 35th put McCarthy one up and he won the crown when the last hole was halved.

Carl, playing his first major tournament, staged a great fight, in view of the fact he qualified by the barest of margins in medal play.

ROWE AND DEAN MEET IN MINORS THIS TIME

BEAUMONT—(AP)—In a world series baseball game in 1934 between the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals, a couple of young pitchers named Lynwood Rowe and Paul Dean hooked up in a great pitcher's battle that was decided when Dean smacked out a hit that brought in the winning run.

Yesterday Rowe and Dean met again, but it was in the minors where both were trying to recover from arm ailments. Rowe, pitching for Beaumont where he was sent by Detroit, won a 2 to 1 decision.

Feller Faces Boston Today

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Bob Feller was the Cleveland Indians' mound nominee today as the Tribe sought to make it two straight in the much-postponed series with Boston.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager, planned to start his ace, Lefty Grove, against the league leaders. The New York Yankees, by downing Detroit twice over the weekend while Cleveland was idle, narrowed the Tribe's margin to three and a half games.

The Cleveland management postponed Saturday's scheduled contest because of threatening weather. A steady rainfall came down yesterday and both games were postponed.

Giants' Ace Halts Chicago, 5-1; Bob Seeds Helps Cause With Homer.

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE
(INS Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Carl Owen Hubbell, the New York Giants' screwball master, received the plaudits of the baseball world today after pitching the Chicago Cubs into submission for his 200th major league victory.

Mainstay of the Giants' mound staff for the past six years and a consistent winner since 1928, Hubbell thus qualifies for a niche in baseballdom held by only three pitchers in the majors today—Lefty Grove of the Red Sox, Ted Lyons, the White Sox veteran and Earl Whitehill of of Indians.

Seeds Cracks Homer.

The lanky left-hander reached No. 200 after four attempts by tightening up in the pinches to defeat the Cubs 5 to 1. Although Hubbell allowed 11 hits while the Giants got only six off Larry French, Bill Lee and Charley Root, he was aided to victory by Bob Seeds' first homer as a Giant.

The International league home run king hit one inside the park to sew up the Giants' victory, in his first full game under Bill Terry's wing.

The Cincinnati Reds missed a chance to pick up ground in the torrid National league campaign by splitting a twin bill with the Phillies. The Reds took the nightcap, 8 to 5, behind Paul Derringer's tenth victory after dropping the opener 10 to 3 mainly due to home runs by Chuck Klein and Phil Weintraub.

The Brooklyn Dodgers-St. Louis Cardinals double-header was washed out with the score one-all after five innings of the opener had been played.

In the American league, the New York Yankees cut the idle Cleveland Indians' lead to three and a half games by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 10 to 3, on a 12-hit attack. Monte Pearson held the Detroiters to six hits for his fourth win.

Sammy West and Al Simmons each hit a pair of home runs as the Washington Senators took both ends of a double-header from the lowly St. Louis Browns. Wes Ferrell chalked up his 10th victory in the nightcap. All other games were rained out.

It was a good gag the first time it was pulled, but so was the one about the chicken crossing the road. The next news from Boston, I suppose, will be that War Admiral will come up with an ache in his pitching arm, or that Seabiscuit has asked to be excused because it's maid's afternoon off.

Snead Rallies To Grab Title In Pro Tourney

Wins Crown in Play-off From Sarazen at Cincy.

CINCINNATI—(UP)—A blazing "stretch drive" today had enabled "Slamming Sam" Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to win the $5,000 professional match play round-robin tournament at the Kenwood country club course.

Snead started the final two rounds yesterday when an "even" rating, while Henry Picard was in the lead with a plus 16 score.

Snead methodically cut down the advantage of all linksmen in front of him and then won a two-hole play-off from Gene Sarazen to grab the first prize of $1,000.

Snead piled up nine points in his semi-final round when he defeated Tommy Armour five up and Ed Dudley four up. In the final round he downed Lawson Little three up and Jimmy Thomson two up to go into the deadlock with Sarazen.

After the first extra hole was halved, Snead put his tee shot to within two feet of the cup and sank the putt for a birdie two and the victory.

Hornsby To Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (INS) —Rogers Hornsby, one of baseball's all-time greats, today was to join the Chattanooga Lookouts at Knoxville as manager of the cellar-holding Southern association club, Joe Engel, president of the Lookouts, announced.

Hornsby, who has served as coach for the Baltimore Orioles this season, will be on the Lookouts' active list, making him eligible for playing duty, Engel's announcement stated.

The new manager, who for six consecutive years was batting champion of the National league, succeeds Walter Millies, catcher, as pilot of the club.

Bare Knuckle Era Ended as Kilrain, Weak, Withdrew In 75th Round of Sullivan Fight

By DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

ON the grassy turf of a 24-foot ring pitched among towering, concealing pines in the woods near Mississippi City, Miss., John L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan in America's first important heavyweight prize fight Feb. 7, 1882.

The Boston Strong Boy, powerful, rough and loud, became Pistorius's first generally-accepted world champion.

Boxing was then an outlawed sport. The bout was arranged in great secrecy and the site was shifted several times. Sullivan kayoed Ryan in 9 rounds, after 11 minutes of fighting.

Battling with bare knuckles, with a round ending when either boxer should be knocked down or thrown down or should slip deliberately to one knee, the Boston bully battered Ryan so badly that his seconds threw in the sponge.

After several years of fast living, Sullivan returned to Mississippi for his next major fight—a murderous 75-round fight with Jake Kilrain. Sullivan had won renown and experts thought him unbeatable. Drinking and carousing continually as he traveled, Sullivan required a long siege of conditioning to get ready for Kilrain.

"The champion bore his most fearsome ogre grin as he rushed out, bent on wiping out the ignominy of Kilrain's late rally," a contemporary description of the eighth round read. "Streaked with blood, his bristling black hair on end, and his lips drawn back savagely, he presented a terrifying spectacle, an effect of which he was fully aware.

"He went at Kilrain like a sledgehammer upon the other's guard broke it, and drove his glittery fists in fury dance.

"'Stand up and fight like a man! I'm the champion boxer, not the champion foot racer!' the Boston man cried as Jake sprinted to safety. Sullivan launched the pursuit, cornered his adversary and beat him to grass with a volley of well-timed blows."

Sullivan's courage carried him to the front in the late rounds and Kilrain was so weak he couldn't answer the call for the 76th round. So ended bare-knuckle fighting.

ALLOTS $6,800 IN RELIEF FUNDS

County Gives City $4,500 of State Allocation, Rest to Shelby, Townships.

After studying the relief needs of Richland county sub-divisions, county commissioners today allocated $6,832 in June relief funds to Mansfield and Shelby and nine of the 18 townships.

Distributed monthly by the state, the funds include sales tax receipts and beer and malt tax.

Mansfield, with the greatest relief burden, received about two-thirds of the entire allocation, or $4,538. Madison township was second on the list, receiving $1,389. Shelby got $475.

Mifflin and Monroe townships were allocated $55 each; Worthington, Troy and Plymouth townships, $50 each; Jefferson township, $40; Cass township, $35, and Bloominggrove township, $25.

Commissioners deducted $70 for rent for relief offices at 28 Orange street. Until this month they had paid the amount from the county general fund. Under a new setup, the city of Mansfield will have complete charge of the relief headquarters.

LaSalle Razor Blades Praised By Druggist

LaSalle razor blades win the approval of the most discriminating buyers as well as men whose business is to know the quality and dependability of the products they sell.

E. C. Miller, proprietor of the Miller Pharmacy at 189 Marion avenue, speaks highly of the LaSalle blades.

"We have found these blades meet every requirement for shaving satisfaction," Mr. Miller says. "We have had excellent comment on the durability and keen cutting edge of LaSalle blades and now stock both the single and double edge blades."

While LaSalle blades cost the dealer a trifle more, it is a sign that where the convenient LaSalle counter card is displayed, the dealer has the best interests of his customers at heart.

"They realize that it pays to sacrifice excess profit in favor of permanent customer satisfaction," Louis O. Black, president of the LaSalle Razor Blade company, contends.

Mr. Black has named P. L. Remy, 45 Augustine avenue, as Mansfield and central Ohio distributor for his product.

INSULATION PLAYS IMPORTANT ROLE IN GORDON-VAN TINE HOMES

Summer heat can cause almost as much discomfort as winter cold. Blazing hot days and sultry nights make the whole family miserable.

Gordon-Van Tine homes, however, are comfortable in summer because they are fully insulated and insulation keeps out heat, Harry A. Parker, Mansfield representative of the company says. Mr. Parker has offices in the Walpark building.

"The ceilings and outside walls of Gordon-Van Tine homes are cold and heat proof because they are insulated with thick, quilt-type Flexible insulation," Mr. Parker points out.

"In addition, these homes have draft proof frames, four-ply building paper and tight shiplap sheating. This means a home completely insulated at every point."

While insulation helps keep the house cool in summer, it plays an even more important role in the winter. Experiments have shown that a fully insulated house can cut fuel costs one-third.

Under the Gordon-Van Tine system, particular stress is laid upon the preliminary planning and specifications.

"No home can be built right that is not planned right," the company contends.

As a result, it maintains a separate department for just such work. This department takes the new owner's ideas, no matter in what form they are in, photograph, drawing, rough pencil sketch or just a written description, and develops them into a preliminary plan which is sent to the individual for his aproval. Once the plans have been approved, the company prepares complete blueprints.

Founded in Davenport, Ia. in 1865, the firm has grown in the past 72 years until it now serves builders from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast.

When It Comes To Wallpaper, This Store Has Answer

When it comes to wallpaper, the Mansfield Wallpaper and Paint company, 118 North Main street, can solve the problem.

The store offers a wide selection of the latest patterns that can meet the needs and styles of any home or any room. Among them are 30-inch plastics both in plain and conventional patterns that are designed to eliminate the strip effect. Then there are engraves for living rooms, made partly of cloth and of such style and material that they are serviceable from 10 to 20 years. This paper is washable.

For bathrooms and kitchens Mansfield Wallpaper offers waxed and varnished paper that can be cleaned regularly without harmful effects.

Today and Tuesday the store is offering all wallpaper selling at 10 cents a roll for five cents.

As a service to its customers, Mansfield Wallpaper will have any room measured to determine the number of rolls needed for papering. It also aids home owners in solving their decorating problems, advising them of the colors, patterns as well as prices for papering the various rooms.

They have whitewashed greenhouse windows in the winter for years. A liquid for similar purposes in industrial buildings admits over 90 per cent of the sunlight as diffused light.

Recent tests indicate the most durable floors to be maple, linoleum, and rubber in that order.

Your friends visit in Mansfield will be pleasant if you have them stop at the (June 13, 20, 27, NJ '38)

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by K. E. Gifford, Clerk of the Board of Education of Greenwich Village District, Huron County, Ohio until twelve o'clock noon, July 20, 1938 for furnishing all materials and performing all the labor for the construction of alterations to the Grade School building at Greenwich, Ohio and installation of sanitary plumbing therein and sewage treatment plant; all to be in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by O. E. Scott, Norwalk, Ohio, architect for said board.

All proposals shall be made in conformity with the General Code of Ohio, and on the blank forms to be obtained from the architect, and the price of labor and materials must be stated separately. Each bidder may submit bids for any or all of the following items, or for a combination of any of the items:

Item 1—Alterations to building; Item 2—Sanitary plumbing and drainage; Item 3—Sewage treatment plant. Item 4—Out fall.

Each bid shall contain the name of every person interested therein, and must be accompanied by a surety bid bond or a certified check on a solvent bank, in amount not less than five per cent of the total amount of the bid, including the highest alternate, and conditioned that if the bid be accepted a contract will be entered into and the performance of it properly secured.

A corporate surety bond conditioned according to the General Code of Ohio, and satisfactory to the Board of Education, for fifty per cent of the amount of the bid will be required for all contracts.

All bids must be sealed, addressed to the Clerk, and be clearly marked on the outside with the name of the bidder and the items bid upon.

The competency of the bidders, and the time for the completion of the work will be given consideration before the award of all contracts. Each and every bidder will be held to have carefully examined the site and the plans and specifications and to have sufficiently acquainted himself with all the conditions pertaining to the work, prior to filing his bids.

Every contractor will be required to comply fully with all laws and regulations of the State of Ohio pertaining to work covered by this contract and especially sections 17-3 17-4, 17-4A, 17-5, 17-5A of the General Code of Ohio.

The board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or parts of any or all bids or to waive defects in favor of the Board.

K. E GIFFORD, Clerk.
Board of Education Greenwich Village School.

FRESH BUYING WAVE BOLSTERS STOCK MARKET

List Continues Spectacular Advances for Seventh Straight Day.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—A fresh buying wave bolstered the stock market today, after leaders had dropped as much as 2 points at the start under an accumulation of over-the-weekend profit-taking.

Losses were converted into small gains in most instances, enabling the general list to chalk up its seventh straight rise in the spectacular string of advances touched off a week ago today.

The heavy volume of trading, including early realizing and subsequent new buying, forced the high-speed ticker 4 minutes behind toward the end of the first hour.

Sales to 11 o'clock amounted to 690,000 shares, indicating a full-day total of better than 3,000,000 shares.

Keeps Firm Undertone.

Trading quieted down somewhat before noon, after the market had recovered early declines, but the list maintained a firm undertone going into the afternoon

Steels, coppers, motors and chemicals, leaders on last week's sustained upward drive, were weakest in the initial reaction They recovered briskly

Douglas aircraft spurted more than 2 points, while United aircraft did half as well International Harvester was a feature, up almost 4 points North American was up a point in the utilities as was Chrysler in the motors. American Telephone and Westinghouse Electric. American Can jumped 3 points at one time.

Elsewhere gains were generally of fractional proportions. Included in this classification were U. S. Steel, General Electric, General Motors, Kennecott, Texas Corp., Sears Rebuck and N. Y. Central. All had been lower at the start.

Works On Device To Locate Lost Treasures In Sea

Perfection of a radio-controlled device to locate lost treasures in the sea is the ambition of M. Milo Kissel, former Mansfielder, who is visiting at the home of his father, Marion Kissel, R. D. 1, Mansfield.

The younger Kissel, who has been in the radio and electrical business for 15 years, is working on an instrument which is designed to detect metal at a depth up to 1,000 feet.

"Negotiations are now under way toward the organization of a company to further the development of deep-sea equipment and later utilize the device in general salvage work" Kissel said.

If successful, the apparatus would be used in a search for gold and precious metals which were sunk by pirates

Governor Goes to Cleveland to See Legislative Leaders for Parley on Deadlock.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—Gov. Martin L. Davey intervened today to break the deadlock between the house and senate that has prevented the Ohio legislature's enactment of a relief program for the rest of the year.

It was learned that the governor came here with the expectation of discussing with leaders of the house and senate possibilities for ending the stalemate and adjourning the special session of the general assembly as speedily as possible.

While in Cleveland he was to confer with Sen. Keith Lawrence, majority leader and president pro tem of the senate, and speaker of the house Frank R. Uible.

What recommendations the governor may propose as a basis for harmonizing differences between the two houses was not disclosed. It has been suggested that as the senate has passed a resolution for sine die adjournment Thursday which the house thus far has ignored, the two branches are in technical disagreement and that the governor has the power to prorogue. If he should use this power, it was thought he would immediately call another session.

No Comment Forthcoming.

Neither Senator Lawrence nor Speaker Uible was available for comment. It was understood, however, that Senator Lawrence might accompany the governor on the return trip to Columbus.

Action can still be taken in the legislature Thursday or earlier should the senate agree to appoint new conferees on disputed points in a relief program. The house also can reconsider its rejection of the first conference report.

The senate's sine die adjournment resolution may be amended to set a later quitting date.

The disagreement exists on whether as the senate insisted, subdivisions should be allowed to borrow up to only 70 per cent instead of 90 per cent against anticipated receipts from earmarked taxes extended through 1941.

Among the most seriously injured in the Mansfield area were three members of a Mansfield family, all of whom are in Samaritan hospital at Ashland, following an accident in which their car struck a culvert on route 42, midway between Mansfield and Ashland at 2 a. m. today.

A. J. Reidenbach, 60, of 157 Hedges street, suffered a leg and shoulder injury. His wife, Margaret, 62, received a broken right arm and cuts about the face and legs. Their daughter, Louise, 25, suffered lacerations while Henry Herschner, 45, of Atherton, N. Y., also a passenger in the machine, sustained a broken leg.

Deputy Sheriff Dale Hammond said the four were on their way to Mansfield when the car apparently skidded on the slippery pavement and struck the culvert.

Driver's License Revoked.

At Ashland, today, Paul Cropper, 17, of 468 West Third street, Mansfield, arraigned before Probate Judge S. H. Boffenmyer on a charge of careless and reckless driving received a suspended fine of $25 and his operator's license was revoked for one year as the result of an accident at Claremont and West Main street at 11 p. m. Saturday.

Ashland police said young Cropper driving north failed to make the turn at Main street and ran over the curb into the Otter hotel and the Ashland Building Loan company.

They said that Kathryn Albers, 19, 30 Lexington avenue, and Betty Bottomley, 17, of 115 Lind avenue, were treated at Samaritan hospital and released while four others in the car escaped injury.

John Alexander of Bronxville, N. Y., was treated at General hospital for head injuries sustained when his car got out of control on the slippery pavement on West Fourth street near North Lake park and went over the curb.

Police reported two persons injured when struck by autos. John McCreery, 50, of 82 East Fourth street, was treated at the hospital for lacerations of the scalp received when struck by an automobile driven by John Maglott, 26 Chestnut street, while crossing East Fourth street at North Adams street Saturday.

W. C. Winton, 38, of Dewey avenue, received treatment at the hospital for a possible shoulder fracture when he was struck by a car driven by Charles DeWis of Ashland, at Newman and Wayne streets.

Martin Remlong, and a brother, Frank, were treated at the hospital for lacerations suffered when the car in which they were riding with John Kutschall, jr., of 94 Grace street, collided with a machine driven by James D. Au, R. D. 2, Mansfield, at East Fifth and Wayne streets Saturday night.

The most serious accident in the state occurred yesterday near Columbus on U. S. route 40 when two cars attempted to pass other cars in the rain and collided head-on killing four persons.

At Ironton, a mother and her four-months-old daughter were killed and six injured in an automobile-bus collision while the woman and her six children were on their way home from Sunday school.

SEEKS $6,000 DEATH CLAIM

Father of Youth Fatally Hurt in Traffic Accident Files Action at Mt. Gilead.

MT. GILEAD—Harley Cyphers of Mt. Gilead, administrator of the estate of his son, Ralph Cyphers, 17, fatally injured in a highway accident south of Mt. Gilead last fall, has filed suit in the common pleas court against G. A. Leech of Cleveland. Damages of $6,000 are asked in the petition filed by Attorney T. B. Mateer.

The accident occured two miles south of Mt. Gilead on Route 61 on Nov. 13, 1937, when Cyphers was struck by a car driven by the defendant. He died at the Marion City hospital the next day.

The boy had been riding on a load of hay which was being brought to Mt. Gilead and was struck as he slid off the front end to enter the car of a companion which had been parked along the highway.

In his petition, Cyphers claimed that his son was across the highway from the loaded truck when the accident occurred. Leach was released after the youth's companions had given an account of the accident to the sheriff and stated that the accident was unavoidable.

HELD TO JURY

Ex-Galion Man Bound Over on Embezzlement Charge.

GALION — George Hill was bound over to the Crawford county grand jury under $500 bond when tried in Mayor W. M. King's court on a charge of embezzlement of $70 from Peter Butterfield, local grocer, July 21, 1936.

Hill was arrested Saturday morning in Mansfield after Captain George Moody of the Galion police force was given a tip that Hill was in Mansfield. Moody and Patrolman Guy Lowe went to Mansfield Saturday and were assisted by Mansfield police in making the arrest.

Hill was working for Butterfield two years ago when he made the alleged theft of the money.

'HUGS' CINDERS, ESCAPES INJURY

Rail Employe Falls in Path of Freight Car But Isn't Hurt.

ASHTABULA—(INS)—His fellow-workers screamed and covered their eyes when they saw W. A. Hawn, 58-year-old New York Central railroad employe, slip and fall from the top of a freight car directly into the path of another.

They rushed to the scene. Suddenly, Hawn sat up and began picking pieces of cinders from his arms and legs.

He explained that he simply had pressed himself down so hard against the cinders that the bottom of the car barely touched him.

DistricT BREVITIES

MT. GILEAD—The 28th reunion of the Williamsport community will be held Saturday at the United Brethren church. Music for the evening will be furnished by the Williamsport band and volunteer musicians. The homecoming is sponsored by the church.

ACCEPTS OFFER

School Board Bonds Taken Over by Sinking Fund.

The Mansfield board of education at a special meeting at noon today paved the way for the purchase of property at Cline avenue and Wood street by accepting the sinking fund commission's offer of three per cent for $10,000 in school bonds.

The bonds, which will be retired in three years, will provide funds for a proposed site for a new junior high school building as a part of the board of education's $1,000,000 building program.

Included in the property is 10 acres on which the board holds a six-months' option and four lots to be purchased from Walter E. Rusk. The Mansfield Trust National bank is the owner of the 10-acre plat, which the board proposes to buy for $7,000. The other properties will cost $3,000.

HIRES TEACHERS

Mt. Gilead School Board Fills 3 Vacancies on Staff.

MT. GILEAD—Three vacancies in the teaching staff were filled by the board of education this week.

Francis Dalrymple of Mt. Vernon, a graduate of Ohio State university this spring, was employed to head the Smith-Hughes vocational agricultural department. He succeeds A. J. Bishop who was not an applicant for the post.

Frank Barker, who taught in the Mantua schools for the past two years, has been employed to teach history in the high school. He succeeds L. C. McCarty, who has entered law practice here.

Arthur Moody was re-employed by the board to teach the co-operative trade school course operated by the school with the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing company.

HEARING OPENS IN LAND SUIT

Conservancy District Asks Jury to Set Value of 70 Acres.

Hearing of a suit to determine the value of 70 acres of land in the Charles Mill dam section in Mifflin township opened this morning before a jury in common pleas court.

One of several filed by the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district, the suit is to decide the amount of compensation due Samuel Harlan for land appropriated for flood purposes.

SECOND TRIAL OF CASE GRANTED

ASHLAND — Common pleas court here has granted a second trial to the defendant in the action of Pardee Simmons vs. Mrs. Louise Comp.

In a recent jury trial, a jury of Ashlanders awarded the defendant a net verdict of $391.79, but restored to the plaintiff ownership in real estate which had been turned over to the defendant in consideration for care she was to tender the plaintiff the remainder of his life.

Plaintiff secured a nolle of the contract on the grounds that he was being neglected.

FLIERS' ROW AT AKRON MENACES AIRPLANE MEET

Collegiate Aviators Walk Out on Junior Leaguers, Stir Up Controversy.

AKRON—A squabble among a bunch of college boys, which involved the son of a former assistant postmaster general, had wellnigh wrecked a flying meet today and caused Akron Junior leaguers to withdraw indoors to nurse their hurt feelings.

The member colleges of the National Intercollegiate Flying club, which fosters the flying of light airplanes by under-graduates, met in Akron Saturday for the third annual renewal of an air "track meet."

Kenyon Starts it.

Kenyon college, at Gambier, O., refused at the start to take quarters provided at the university club and moved to a downtown hotel. Saturday night, Kenyon fliers walked out of a party at Akron airport, arranged by the host club of Akron university, leaving a score of Junior leaguers standing in the middle of the floor.

The Akron club had invited the Junior leaguers to provide "dates" for the visiting college men.

"I don't like the tone of this affair," remarked Clark Henderson of Washington, D. C., son of Paul Henderson, one-time assistant postmaster-general. Henderson, of Kenyon, is president of the N. I. F. C.

Akron fliers stood their ground. Others from the universities of Toledo, Detroit and Minnesota threw their lot with Akron. Stanford and the University of Michigan elected to follow Kenyon. The University of Toronto remained neutral.

Charges Fly.

Today Henderson, who had found fault with the airport restaurant because it was not "private" enough, stated the club "will be run as a private club, and those who don't like it can get out."

Alden Onsgard of Spring Grove, Minn., countered, "this is the best meet we have had so far, and the only trouble with the dissenting faction is that they are newly rich."

Kenneth Benson of Akron, managing the meet, observed, "I guess the argument is over the fact that we in Akron haven't blank check books for entertainment."

ROAD REPAIR CONTRACTS LET

51 Miles in Richland, Huron, and Crawford Counties to Be Resurfaced.

Resurfacing of 51.23 miles of state highway in Richland, Crawford and Huron counties will begin within the next two weeks, following the awarding of a contract for the improvements to the Ohio Road Improvement company, Columbus, Boyd Werman, state highway engineer in Richand county, said today.

The Columbus contractors received the contract on their bid of $29,859. The estimate was $34,171.

Approximately 20 miles of the proposed improvements will be in Richland county, with sections of four highways scheduled to receive bituminous treatment.

On the list proposed for improvement are:

Route 13, north from the Mansfield reformatory, 3.94 miles; route 96, betwen Olivesburg and Shelby, 4.70 miles; route 30-S, from Ontario to the Richland-Crawford county line, 5.26 miles; and rote 61, between Shelby and Plymouth, 6.37 miles.

In Crawford county, sections of route 19, route 30N and route 30-S will be resurfaced.

HALT TUBE FIRE

Engineers Flood N. Y. Tunnel to Quench Flames.

NEW YORK—(INS)—After raging unchecked for 13 hours, a fire in the underground tube of the Midtown-Queens tunnel beneath the East river was extinguished at 9 a. m. today.

Quenching of the submarine blaze followed a delicate bit of gauging and calculation by engineers who, bit by bit, decreased air pressure in the tube and permitted oily, muddy water from the river bed to seep through. A sudden droppage in the air pressure was followed by a downward gushing from the river, the waters completely flooding the tunnel for a distance of 300 feet and drowning out the blaze.

Decision to flood the tube was reached after fruitless attempts by 40 men, firemen and tube workers, to halt the fire's progress with fire hose.

RICHBERG RAPS LABOR BOARD IN ARMCO HEARING

(By Associated Press)

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. — Donald R. Richberg, former NRA administrator, challenged as "flagrantly unconstitutional" today National Labor Relations board charges that the American Rolling Mill company dominated municipal elections in Ashland, Ky.

Appearing as counsel for the company at the opening of the hearing before Examiner George Bokat of New York City, on charges that the company violated the Wagner Labor act, Richberg asked dismissal of the complaint, which embraces more than a score of charges, and questioned its validity.

Besides those referring to the election, the charges include allegations of a conspiracy to defeat collective bargaining, dissemination of anti-union propaganda, assaults, shadowing and pilfering of union records.

Studies Motion.

Bokat recessed the hearing an hour and a half after it opened to study the former NRA's chieftain's motion for dismissal, and others previously entered.

"The national labor relations board must keep its hands off the ballot box, asserted Richberg, pounding a stand with his fist. "It must not molest a free press and must keep hands off throttling of speech."

He contended the labor act did not empower the board to deny either employes or employers their constitutional rights.

The board, he insisted, had failed to observe the fundamental differences of acts of an employer as an employer and his acts as a citizen.

"If it should be conceded that such activities come within the jurisdiction of the board, the freedom of speech, the freedom of publication, the freedom of suffrage, of every representative of management whose business would be subject to the act, would be immediately circumscribed and subject to intimidation by the threat of prosecution.

Objects To Argument.

Oscar Grossman, counsel for the labor board, objected to the trend of Richberg's arguing, but Examiner Bokat permitted him to continue.

Richberg pointed to President Roosevelt's recent fireside chat, in which the president said he would exercise his rights as head of the Democratic party, in support of his contention employers as well as other groups could engage in partisan politics.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

WILD ROSES

ON the bank of the roadside grows a fine colony of wild roses. I see them almost every day, nodding their friendly heads to everyone who passes. I have watched their daily progress, seen the first bud start on the topmost branch, then others down the lateral twigs, felt the thrill of new pink petals shining through between the heavy, thorny bracts . . . a few days more and the entire family brought forth their bloom of deepest pink.

Their wild, haunting fragrance rivals that of the garden rose. The odor clings in my nostrils like some rare, distilled perfume.

The flower is large, and has only one single whorl of broad, blunt petals. The heavy filaments hold the tilting anthers well across the center. When these bursted and were agitated by the wind, I saw a yellow dust of pollen rise.

Here the rude, droning, female bumblebee is lured. As she lights upon the surface, the stem bends with the added burden. This "yellow breeched philosopher" takes her food, her entire means of livelihood, and leaves her host a stronger, more prolific plant.

The wild rose needs no planting, but grows in competition with grass or hedge. It sends its twisted fibrous roots deeper than the surface roots of grass and draws the moisture from a larger reservoir. Its matted growth keeps the top soil from erosion.

When petals fall and "sweet odors sicken" the beauty of the wild rose is not past. In autumn a tempting little scarlet apple stands firmly where the rose had been. I have often pulled them from the stalk, placed one firmly between my two forefingers, and with both thumb nails punctured the hard surface and pried it open. Here were carpels, like an apple core, filled with small round seeds.

May the wild rose grow and beautify undisturbed, the most neglected spots of earth.

GUNMAN SHOT AFTER CHASE

Two Desperadoes Cornered by Officers After Brief Reign of Terror.

ers was routed from the police car and the outlaws climbed into it, abandoning their own.

At this juncture Deputy Sheriffs Charles Hahn, 40, and Joseph Kowalczyk, 45, both of La Porte, drove up. They did not see the inert figure of Trooper Dixon, sprawled in a ditch.

Seize Deputies Car.

Before they could act, they were covered by the same pistol which had wounded Dixon and forced to climb into the front seat of their auto. The outlaws then transferred a heavy suitcase out of the squad car into the deputies' auto, climbed in behind the officers, and ordered them to "drive straight west."

At Cook, the outlaws, believed to be fleeing from a bank robbery somewhere in Michigan, released the deputies unharmed and drove toward Chicago.

On a gravel road not far from Cook, the two desperadoes came on Nevy and his son. They abandoned the officers' car, and commandeered Nevy's machine, forcing the farmer and his young son to accompany them.

Soon after the kidnaping of farmer Novy and his boy, Illinois State Policeman Walter Boyer opened fire on the fleeing pair and their captives on a country road between Peotone, Ill., and Wilmington. He said he saw the car swerve and stated the belief he wounded the driver.

steps to organize O-B workers, work was assigned to him which decreased his earnings, before he was discharged.

Colace said that after he had filed a complaint with the NLRB, he was contacted by Harry E. Hawley, former Mansfield postmaster, who urged him to drop his complaint. Colace testified Hawley suggested that Colace might be able to get his job back if he did so.

This drew objections from counsel for the company, the law firm of Day, Young, Veach and LeFever, of Cleveland, and Atty. William McE Weldon of Mansfield.

The objection was overruled by Lohm. Atty. Veach had claimed that the testimony was irrelevant because no testimony was introduced to indicate that Hawley had any connection with the plant.

'NOT LOADED,' KILLED

American heart," he said to Finnish Foreign Minister Rudolf Holsti, without referring directly to that country's lone practice, among all European debtor nations, of paying its installments to this country regularly and on time.

Accepting the monument, the president said he was confident "it will typify the close association and continued good-will between our two nations." . . .

Worship in Historic old Swedes church, built 239 years ago, and an afternoon address by Secretary of State Cordell Hull followed President Roosevelt's address and dedication of the monument on the day's program.

The monument—a black granite shaft surmounted by a replica of the colonial ship Kalmar Nyckel—has just been completed by the Sculptor Carl Miles on "The Rocks," jagged slabs at the confluence of the Delaware and the Cchristina rivers in Wilmington. There the followers of Peter Minuit, Swedes and Finns, landed in 1638 from their ships, the Kalmar Nyckel and Fogel Grip.

The state of Delaware has built around this spot a new $400,000 park in memory of the men who established New Sweden, a territory that in the 17th century embraced parts of what is now Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

tion and submitted it to state PWA officials.

Robinson said Marre and the state department of education told him the procedure was regular in every way. Submitted to the state PWA office several weeks ago, the application was refused on the grounds that it had not been authorized.

Members of both the Union and county boards said neither group had authorized any plan for a new high school building. Robinson is clerk of the county board.

The two members of the county board who indicated they would push charges against Robinson are C. G. Tugend of Worthington township, and Hunt, who lives near Mansfield. Both were elected to the board last November. The other three members are backing Robinson who has headed the county schools for four years. He is employed by the county board.

For the past three years Robinson has been working with the state department of education to consolidate the county's rural schools and reduce the number of districts in compliance with the Ohio schools foundation law.

are known to feel there should be a change at the top. They thought Hamilton should have quit after the disastrous rout of 1936—beaten chairmen usually do—and they have long nurtured a grudge against him because of his collaboration with Herbert Hoover in the formation of the Glenn Frank "Republican policy committee," from which all members of congress were pointedly excluded.

Undaunted by this dissension, Hamilton assumed the role of party spokesman over the weekend and blasted away at President Roosevelt's radio talk. He accused Mr. Roosevelt of "distorting" the terms liberal and conservative, and of distorting the nature of the opposition of the New Deal. He also criticized the president's intervention in Democratic primaries, and asked who was going to pay the cost of such intervention—the Democratic party or the federal treasury?

"Since," said Hamilton, "Mr. Roosevelt is intervening in Democratic primary fights, as 'head of the Democratic party' and not as president, it is to be hoped the expenses of his tour next month across the country in behalf of Democrats whose candidacies he favors will be paid by the Democratic national committee and not by the federal treasury."

School Students Give 13 Reasons Why They Failed

CHICAGO—(AP)— Psychologists conducted tests to learn why 475 students of Senn high school in Chicago failed in their studies.

They selected a group of the failures having intelligence rating of from 100 to 140 (100 is good and 120, excellent), analyzed their behavior symptoms and found the failure causes to be as follows.

1. Hostility toward the school.
2. Poor co-operation with others.
3. Refusal to accept suggestions.
4. Inferiority complex.
5. Over-confidence in self.
6. Privileged character attitude.
7. Refusal to reason about a problem.
8. Shyness.
9. Deceptiveness or dishonesty.
10. Superficiality.
11. Work avoidance.
12. Lack of joy in work.
13. Refusal to work unless bribed or begged.

The psychologists concluded that "the outstanding influence is the tendency of young people who are intelligent and capable to avoid or shirk work.

'AUTOGRAPHS' OF SOME 100,000 STARS, GOAL OF U. S. PROFESSOR

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Dr. Oliver Justin Lee today is collecting the "autographs" of more than 100,000 stars.

The Northwestern university astronomy professor has been at the work for four years, and expects to complete his job by 1942.

His collection does not comprise the signatures of movie stars, but pictures of stars in the heaven, which, he says, "virtually write their own autographs."

Since 1934, Dr. Lee has photographed and classified 53,000 faint red stars through a specially constructed "spectrum" camera. In the next six years, he hopes to get at least that many more.

His is the only camera of its kind in existence and it is sensitive only to red light. He has it focused on the 12th magnitude in the northern sky.

Dr. Lee explained:

"The idea back of this is to know more about faint red stars. It has never been done before. I expect to contribute important knowledge to the stellar theory.

"The stars virtually write their own autographs on a sensitive plate through a ten and one-half inch lens and a prism of the same size. It is the prism which gets each star's story."

Dog and Gander Continue Mock War For Years

COSHOCTON — For several years now, their owner, James L. Boyd, reports, Mack, a German shepherd dog, and Oscar, a gander, have carried on a daily farmyard feud without the loss of one feather to Oscar or one mouthful of hair to the dog.

Spiritedly, but without rancor, they wage their pseudo warfare. Sometimes it is the dog that starts it; at other times, the gander. When one or the other gets tired they quit.

The gander's mate takes it seriously, however. At every fight she stands on the sidelines and cheers him on. Boyd, while desiring to remain impartial, nevertheless gives a little encouragement to the dog.

To one not knowing about these odd encounters it would appear that both combatants were in deadly earnest. The gander stands with feet firmly set, wings spread and neck twisted in the shape of a snake about to strike. When he gets the chance, the bird closes his bill over a section of hide and hangs on until shaken loose. The dog on the other hand, always grabs Oscar about the neck and could, if it chose, make it a two-piece neck. But Mack so far has never forgotten to allow for the difference in size and strength.

By being "on the way to complete recovery" Max Schmeling provides a good example for the country at large.

And so they ran out of beans at the Masonic picnic—having provided only about twice enough to meet real requirements.

Robert Quillen's passing thought: "The press hasn't lost influence. It just seems that way because of the increased power of those who can't read."

Veterans Meet at Gettysburg.

STARTING Wednesday of this week, and extending to the middle of next week, the historic battlefield of Gettysburg will witness another coming together of the Blue and the Gray—but this time it will be as friends, rather than as war-time enemies when each was battling for a cause that he believed to be "right."

Saddest picture in the history of a young nation is that of the war between the states, in which brother fought against brother and in which the ravages of war extended to ruthless demolition of earlier achievements.

Three-quarters of a century have passed since the Battle of Gettysburg. Those who fought as mere boys at that time Will now gather on the battlefield as aged men. War seemed necessary then—as it has since seemed necessary on several occasions.

Viewed in retrospect, it may be wondered if a better way might not have been found to settle the differences in conscientious views that then existed, without the sacrifice of lives and devastation of property that resulted from the war.

This combined reunion of aged veterans of the North and the South serves as a fine symbol of concord and a common patriotic purpose on the part of all loyal Americans. When past animosities between the states of the North and the states of the South cease to present sectional problems, many ways will be found in which each can be more helpful to the other.

Danger Ahead! Drunken Driver!

ANOTHER of the unnecessary hazards of the highway was demonstrated in Mansfield last week-end when an intoxicated truck driver wrecked a big interstate freight truck, loaded with whisky, near the Park avenue east subway, after damaging three or four passenger cars and injuring several people.

While this particular truck driver, who admitted he drank five glasses of beer in an Ashland "restaurant," may be an exception to the rule—and all other truck drivers may be total abstainers—this incident is sufficient to raise the question as to whether public highways and city streets can be safely used for heavy freight shipments under the lax restrictions now in vogue.

A Chicago-to-Columbus shipment of liquor, such as was involved in this drunken-driver wreck, would seem to more naturally come within the province of railroad transportation, instead of being permitted to add to the dangers of highways.

It seems especially incongruous that the state of Ohio, profiting greatly from railroad taxes, should withhold from railroads the interstate freight patronage to which they are legitimately entitled—and at the same time unnecessarily imperil the lives of persons using highways and streets for their intended purposes.

Ashland Invites Tourist Trade.

ASHLAND is quite well pleased with the operation of its recently started one-hour parking limit on Main street.

One day last week a noon survey disclosed that a third of the cars parked on Main street were from out of the state—indicating that a number of tourists had stopped for lunch, and possibly to make some other purchases.

Comments the Times-Gazette: "They stopped to spend their money in Ashland because they were able to find parking space . . . the hour parking rule tends to keep spaces available on Main street and that is a factor in inducing trade."

Now, there's an idea! Tourists carry a lot of money through Mansfield every day. A number of them would probably be glad to leave some of it here—if they could find a place to park.

Eternity In Naziland.

NAZISM seems jealous of Fascism. Hitler announces that the Nazis are going to make Berlin an "eternal city." That title has always belonged to Rome, and Mussolini may not like such insolent competition.

Hitler says the feat is going to be achieved in 25 years of ambitious building. That is a short time to make a city that is to last forever. Such prophecies are always risky. As Lord Byron said: "A thousand years scarce serve to form a state: an hour may lay it in the dust."

This is a part of Hitler's egomania. It is also a part of the Nazi effort to win prosperity through a big construction program.

"Everything we build," says Hitler, "in the end will bring an immeasurable stream of foreigners to Berlin and Germany. Whatever great things we create, Germany will in the end pay herself by making Germany into a great tourist land. The world will come to Germany and see for itself that Germany is the cidadel of European culture and civilization."

The world will come and see it if it is there. But free-souled nations outside of Germany have a hard time seeing such qualities in the Germany of Hitler's oppressive regime, with its racial, religious and political persecutions, its rule of brute force and its flouting of the old German culture.

Under government ownership of the railroads it may be assumed that congressmen would travel under a franking privilege but still retain their mileage allowance.

There is also the disturbing thought of whether the beavers will continue to be industrious if they discover its a government project.

"This is a pretty good world, after all," is the frequently expressed view of those who start to gain strength after a serious illness.

Buy the Things You Want and Can Afford To Have

(An Editorial Suggesting the First Essential To Recovery)

THERE'S too much inactive money in banks, building and loans, or stored away in other non-productive ways.

Too much emphasis has been placed on the number of people who are UNEMPLOYED and too little thought has been given to the much greater number of millions who have been regularly employed throughout the so-called depression and who have not only made a living for themselves and their families but have been putting away a surplus—in readiness for use at some future time.

This 1938 depression, following the upward movement of last year, has been more mental than material.

Widespread fear and uncertainty have resulted in subnormal buying by many people who could as well afford commodity and luxury buying as at any other time.

This condition exists in Mansfield, and quite likely extends into every part of the country.

The failure of any particular individual to buy things needed by himself or his family does not seem particularly important—yet when this is extended to millions of people who can afford to buy, but who do not do so, the result is an industrial and general business let-down which causes increased unemployment and, therefore, a "depression."

Taxes are high—taxes have always been regarded as "too high"—but, after all, taxes are essential in providing various services and bestowing public benefits which have become requirements of modern standards of living. If there is later need for less taxes that is a matter to be taken care of when the time comes.

We are now dealing with 1938 and existing conditions. There can be no waiting for some chimerical future time; for a change in state or federal administration; for lower taxes; for greater social security or for some magic formula to eliminate unemployment.

For some unaccountable reason, one week-end last fall, there was a sudden slump in consumer-buying—just as if by agreement among millions of people in all parts of the country.

It was not a pre-arranged "buyers' strike"—it was merely that a mental wave of fear and uncertainty of the future had spread among millions of employed people over the nation and each decided to hold on to surplus earnings rather than buy in a normal way.

The inescapable result was that manufactured products were left in warehouses, or in the hands of retailers; factories were required to cut production, thus throwing thousands of men and women out of employment, and total estimated national earnings for the year 1938 took a downward plunge of approximately twelve billion dollars—the difference between what is termed "depression" and what could properly be referred to as a fair measure of prosperity.

Looking at Mansfield and Richland county as a small section of the national picture—the part that can be played locally in bringing "better times" is for the regularly employed and well-to-do thousands of people in this city and county to immediately resume normal buying of necessary commodities and desirable luxuries for themselves and for use in their homes—with preference, of course, for patronizing home merchants and also for the products of Mansfield factories.

There has been postponement of buying clothing, furniture, floor coverings, draperies, electrical conveniences of various kinds—as well as numberless other large and small items.

Construction of new homes, or remodeling of old ones, has been "put off" from month to month—or from year to year.

All of these things have contributed to the general slow-down of industry and business—thus encouraging, rather than dispelling, the reign of fear that has engulfed so much of the nation and caused over-emphasis of relief problems and taxation burdens.

If normal buying is resumed; if money is put in use by individuals, to the extent of their reasonable purchasing power; if despondency gives way to justifiable optimism in the minds of millions of people who are working and earning—then this year's upturn can come as quickly as last year's slump.

Thrift is desirable—because it results in accumulating a surplus intended to supply future needs.

If spending were confined to absolute essentials there could be no "prosperity"—such as America has known—nor could there be a maintenance of "American standards of living," or extension of these "standards" to a steadily increasing percentage of the population of this country.

"EARN, SPEND, SAVE," is a formula under which individual and national progress is assured.

If you are working and earning NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY!

BILLION-DOLLAR GATE

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

RISE of security prices, government projects will not pull us out of the depression—even temporarily. That is the word of men who study finance. It is the belief of men behind the scenes in Wall Street.

These prophets believe that falling prices will turn the balance, cause purchases and thus increase money flow into the many channels which have all but dried up.

Such men believe that not only will commodity prices drop, but some wage levels also. They ask, "Is it not better to have more work at a lower wage than a small amount of work at a higher wage? The income will be more at a lower wage."

They argue the same concerning the monopolies, such as steel. Steel prices finally are cracking. A calamity? A godsend, say these men.

But corporations, groups, executives and workers who desire price levels maintained will resist this. In the case of the worker, alone is there likely to be merely a small change. The worker's standard of living is rising—and there can be no reaction to lower standards.

Constant rumors of still further currency devaluation jointly by Great Britain and the United States are said to have much to do with the recent spurt in security prices. That indicates what an ephemeral thing such an "upturn" can be.

* * *

HUGE SUPPLY OF MEN

To realize how far down the United States is, one ought to look at the unemployment and relief totals. More than 25 per cent of all American workers are unemployed.

Government spending, in spite of criticism, is a slow affair. It really will not get under way on the majority of projects until late in the summer. And even that will not absorb more than, say, 10 per cent of the 25 per cent. But it will be somewhat of a primer. Business may pick up, gradually.

* * *

WORLD DECLINE

It must be understood, too, that the world economic decline continues. How could it be otherwise, with nearly every country taking resources and manpower from productive efforts to war production?

Europe is living on its nerves. Asia is prostrated. South America has serious economic difficulties. Every other country looks to the United States. And one would imagine that such a vast country, with tremendous resources, and the greatest crops on record, should lead the world from the quagmire.

But socio-economic conditions—man-made—stand in the way. And changing of those conditions will be fought every inch of the way, until the worst struggle of all may occur in the nation that has everything except—both sides say—"true understanding."

SENSUAL GODS—Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no saviour beside me.—Hosea 13:4.

Secretary Hull Rationally Liberal

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Admirers of Secretary of State Hull (and he has many of them) are developing quite a formidable Democratic 1940 presidential boom in behalf of the cabinet premier.

There is one and only one thing to be said to Cordell Hull's disadvantage as a presidential nominee. On election day in 1940 he will be hard upon 70. Unquestionably it is widely held that a man of his years has not a sufficient life expectancy ahead of him to justify his candidacy for the White House.

In the past the present state secretary has had another presidential handicap. A Tennesseean, he has been a bit too far to the southward. He has been presidentially suggested before, when he was younger. He never took these earlier hints seriously. I have heard him say, several national campaigns ago, that, due to inherited sectional prejudices, he did not consider a southern president a possibility in his generation. I surmise that these prejudices have pretty well worn off by now. However, the secretary's generation is about finished.

* * *

All the same, the Democrats appear to be arriving at a point where they need him badly.

It will be Democratically embarrassing if, for lack of any other suitability, the party has to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third time. I doubt that "F. D." himself thinks he would be wise to run again—though of course he wants to pick his successor.

A nominee like John N. Garner would be all right with the conservatives, but all wrong with the New Dealers. Besides, the vice president is even a trifle older than Secretary Hull.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has his presidential lightning rod higher up than any other Democratic aspirant, but Wallace, previously a Republican has not been a Democrat long enough. Old-fashioned Democrats do not regard him as one of themselves yet, for that matter.

But so are the Democrats—unless they renominate Roosevelt, or agree on Hull, old as he is.

* * *

NO SPELL-BINDER

At that, Secretary Hull is no spell-binder.

When he makes a speech it is a corking good speech—on account of what he SAYS. The welkin does not resound to his resonance. He's somewhat screechy—shrill, I mean.

I often have wondered how, lacking superficial oratorical gifts, he got started politically. But I readily can understand how, once started, he kept going. He did that on his merits. Originally his neighbors evidently learned to appreciate him and sent him to the Tennessee legislature. His congressional district thus grew to know him and sent him to the federal house of representatives. There his state became acquainted with him and landed him in the senate.

* * *

NOTHING SPECTACULAR

He never did anything spectacular, but he was so pre-eminently the "goods" (speaking of genuine statesmanship) that the Roosevelt administration, coming into power, recognized his value as "window dressing," and gave him the first cabinet post.

Assuredly it thought it could "boss" him.

It did not succeed in doing so.

Hull not only has ruled his own department with an iron (and intelligent) hand. He has had considerable collateral influence.

Well, international issues? "In the main," the secretary told me, after his promotion into the state department, "I find that they are all basically economic."

Health Advice

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

YOUNG PARENTS of the first new baby are in for a host of doubts, fears and abysmal consciousness of lack of experience. It seems such a fragile little thing and so helpless. Just what are we to do about taking care of it? Oh! about a thousand different things.

Well, it isn't quite as fragile as it looks, and although it does need a good deal of attention it will get along most of the time on its own.

Keep it fed, keep it clean, keep it aerated and keep it rested—that is about all there is to it.

As for keeping it clean, the healthy baby should be bathed every day at the same hour. The most convenient time is about half an hour after mother's breakfast.

2. Several soft towels.
3. A baby's bathtub or a dishpan or a washbowl.
4. Wash cloths—one for face, one for body.
5. Powder—in a dusting can, to prevent chafing.
7. Boric acid solution for eye wash.
8. A fine, soft hairbrush.
9. Apron for mother.
10. Cotton.
11. Pail or basket for dirty clothes.
12. Clean socks, diapers, band, etc.
14. Scissors to cut toenails.

Temperature of the bath should be lukewarm, about 98 to 100 degrees. Always put the water in the tub before undressing the baby. Always test the temperature of the water with your elbow before putting the baby in. As the baby gets older, make the bath a little cooler.

Never Leave Baby in Tub.

Wash the eyes first by dipping a small piece of cotton in warm boric solution (to make a proper boric acid solution put a glassful—eight ounces—of water on to boil; then add a level teaspoonful of boric acid crystals, and continue boiling, stirring with a spoon until dissolved.)

Wash the nose by twisting a piece of cotton around a toothpick. THEN SLIP THE TOOTHPICK OFF and wash the nose by gently turning the end of the cotton around inside the nostrils.

Sleep — A healthy, new-born baby should sleep nearly all the time except when it is being nursed or bathed. During the second and third months there should be eighteen to twenty hours of sleep every day.

Young America Asks---

What Does Our Nation Need?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

JULY THE FOURTH!

Birthday of this nation!

Peal of trumpet and throb of drum . . . cheering millions, shouting as one—"I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO MY FLAG AND TO THE COUNTRY FOR WHICH IT STANDS . . . ONE NATION, INDIVISIBLE, WITH LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL!"

A glorious scene! Yet, kid, come clean!

Just what does this pledge now mean—to YOU? Just how much are you glad to DO for this, your land? You vow that you'll be true—but true to what? To what those heroes dreamed in '76.... or have you some new code of selfish tricks? You say you'll fight? But what side do you think is wrong or right? And how'd you free your country from this plight that's got her down?

"Come on—don't clown? Yank up that pride. Your nation's being taken for a ride! Put your wisecracks and your ga-ga all aside, and let's hear tell just what you think is really raising hell with this grand land — AND WHAT YOU YOUNG AMERICANS WOULD DO IF WE SHOULD LEAVE THE BOSSING TO YOU?

* * *

JULY THE FOURTH. And there, again is the challenge which has faced every generation of Young America since that first Fourth of July. How does this present generation take that challenge? How does Young America—1938 Model—interpret its nation's needs? What solution does it offer to meet the need? Here comes three Young Americans with their answers.

First, 16-year-old Marybelle Gicquelais of Edgewood, Pa., crying—

"AMERICA — BE PROUD OF WHAT YOU HAVE AND ARE!

"Citizens of the world's greatest democracy—enjoy your freedom....freedom of the press, of thought and speech....and, above all, the right to worship God according to your own conscience, a right which was wrought by your father's sacrifice.

"In a dictator state there is no liberty. You can't even speak your own opinion; you are only allowed to worship God in the way directed by the dictator. If you are caught reading a book adverse to the dictator, you are stood up against a wall and shot. Hitler caused more than 100 prominent Germans to be shot simply because he suspected their loyalty to him. In Communist Russia over 300 of the best men are being shot annually. Hundreds of Jewish, Catholic and Protestant ministers are in concentration camps and jails in Germany and Russia, dying from starvation and abuse.

"Compare these vicious acts with the liberty and happiness of citizens of the United States of America — guaranteed them by the Constitution. And thank God for your good fortune!"

Marybelle Gicquelais, 16 years,
Edgewood, Pa.

AND now come the two other contributions. First there's one from Mrs. Ted Scott of Alice, Texas, a young American wife who says:

"If the people of America would do their own thinking, there would be a great many changes in politics. Too long have we left the thinking up to our political leaders.

'WHO OR WHAT CAN SAVE OUR NATION? YOU AND I, AS PLAIN EVERDAY FOLK, CAN SAVE OUR NATION—AND WE ALONE! IF WE CONTINUE TO WAIT FOR SOME GREAT LEADER TO LIFT US TO A HIGHER AND BETTER LIFE—WE ARE LOST.

"We must do it for ourselves. When we, as individuals, do something about our plight, THERE WILL BE HOPE FOR THE NATION! A country is only as strong or weak as its citizenry."

Mrs. Ted Scott,
Box 831, Alice Tex.
($10 prize winner)

There's the spirit that made America out of a savage wilderness! And, after her, and equally brave, comes this suggestion from Shirley Helene Becker of New York City.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"Why not require a course in politics in all high schools? Then the future citizens and leaders would have a real understanding of 'what it's all about.'

'It's true the schools teach economics, civics and history. But what about those who will make political history? They need education in politics in an unbiased form! Think of the thousands who vote merely because they have become of legal age and have the right. How many of them understand the machinery of government?

"I say—TEACH POLITICS IN HIGH SCHOOLS IF YOU WANT NATIONAL UNDERSTANDING OF POLITICS."

Timely Editorial

Hard Work Will Do It.

The most encouraging feature of the big drive for business inaugurated under the name, "National Salesmen's Crusade," is that it takes responsibility. It isn't a buck-passing recourse to oratory. It has a slogan. "Sales Make Jobs!" and it assumes that the way to make sales make jobs is to get out and get the business.

Characteristic of this marvelous age was the radio hoop-up that put into one big audience thousands of business people assembled for conference in 70 cities. There ought to be inspiration in the sense of solidarity such a miracle makes possible. And one of the best features of the program was its insistence on hewing to the line. No time was lost blaming the government or politics or hard luck.

The job was put straight up to the men who want business. It was understood there will be obstacles. Taking counsel of fears and doubts won't remove them. The business is to be won by hard work. The courage of such a massed attack will inspire the whole country.—Detroit News.

As Others See It

Sad Lesson.

There's always something. When you get wise enough to realize that bad things can't last forever, you also realize that good things work the same way.—Buffalo News.

Merely "Guaranteed."

The Michigan supreme court has upheld a statute of the state designed to guarantee to the worker the right to work at his job. What an old-fashioned idea! — Kansas City Times.

HEART ON HER SLEEVE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER V.

It was a gay ride out to the island. Mignon was greatly impressed with Jed She was a little sorry Moleen had seen him first, she admitted later when they talked him over. It was thrilling, knowing a real Kentucky mountaineer!

He wore his clothes like a gentleman, and there was a sincere naturalness about him that left no doubt that he was from an excellent family and well brought up. The fact that he was a "hillbilly," with no money, made absolutely no difference to the daughter of the district attorney. As a matter of fact, it made him more desirable to her as a friend.

The Wayside Inn was crowded to the doors when Moleen, Mignon and Jed entered. But a table had been reserved. The band was playing Fourth of July airs and the Inn was decorated gaily in bunting and flags.

It was the first time Moleen had ever been in a night club of any sort, and she had never been so excited in her life Jed and Mignon, watching her, smiled She was such a kid! Mignon envied any one who could get so much happiness out of a few clothes and a party!

* * *

When Sunny Tucker smiled, the world smiled with him His was a disposition so sunny that his close friends scarcely remembered that he really had been born Thurston Carstairs Tucker From babyhood his parents had called him Sunny because of the same gay smile he now turned on Moleen, Jed and Mignon.

Moleen thought he looked exactly like the pictures she'd seen in the newspapers as he beamed on her after they had been introduced

"Swell of you to come, Minnie!" as he sat down

"Sunny's the only man, still alive, who's ever called me Minnie"

"If I catch another man calling you by my own special term of endearment he won't be alive long, Minnie, my love" He blew an airy kiss

He turned to smile at Moleen

"And may I call you Molly? Or do you think we've known each other long enough"

"That's what my father and mother always called me," Moleen revealed "My brother Pat calls me Moll but I wouldn't advise you to go that far. I might lose my temper"

"For a day or so," Sunny decided. "I'll be formal and call you Moleen"

Then he'll probably compromise on Toots," said Mignon

When they got up to dance Mignon, knowing Sunny would see Moleen often, told him a little of how she had met her But she swore him to secrecy. They agreed that it was best to introduce Moleen as an old friend of the family, to make sure no one would snub her

Sunny himself despised snobs He had as mixed a group of personal friends as ever graced or disgraced a bachelor apartment

Later Mignon told Sunny about Jed, and related the story of his kindness to Moleen. When she asked Sunny to give Jed a chance in his band, he was not so enthusiastic

"You know I'd do anything for you, Minnie," he told her. "But I'm keeping four men with my outfit now I can't afford because I don't like to see them out of work How do you know he can sing?"

"I've never heard him," Mignon admitted, "but I'll bet my last dollar he can. With that personality, if he really is a good baritone, you might have a gold mine"

Well, there was no harm in asking him to sing a number with the band, and because he knew it would please Mignon, Sunny issued the invitation when they returned to the table

"Mignon tells me you're a singer," he said turning to Jed 'A gang like this always like a surprise artist How about doing a number with my band?"

"Oh, Jed, do!" Moleen jumped excitedly.

"I'd be glad to," Jed said simply, "if I can borrow a banjo, I'd prefer singing alone, if it's the same to you, Tucker."

Sunny applauded Jed, mentally, because he had taken the invitation like a veteran. There was nothing amateurish or anxious in his manner when Sunny introduced him and he sat down with the banjo to sing.

For a few seconds the crowd was noisy But after a few bars of "Shortin' Bread," a silence fell on the room Diners from the outside porches moved to the doors, and at the end of the number there was a roar of applause

Sunny was amazed at the reception of the lanky Kentuckian Jed gave them one of his wide smiles, tossed a stray lock of hair back and strumming softly sang "Mah Curly-Headed Babby" It was amazing to Sunny that he could give that wild Fourth of July bunch a number like that and make them yell for more. He sang four times before they would let him go

Mignon's cheeks were pink with excitement when the two men made their way back to the table. Moleen's eyes were brimming with happy tears

"Oh Jed!" she cried "You were marvelous! I know you're going to be famous some day. They're mad about you"

Mignon turned to Sunny and said under her breath

"Now are you sorry I got you into this? I've never heard anything like him"

"Not bad," Sunny admitted with his favorite smile, and turned to Jed 'How would you like to sing a couple of weeks with my band? If you go over like this, the job will be permanent"

Dancing with Moleen, Jed gave her a tight squeeze

"Dog my cats, Mascot, you did bring me luck! Some of these days I'll buy you a mink coat. Darned if I won't!"

"You'll probably be able to" Moleen smiled up at him gayly, "But darned if you will Your mother gets the mink coat—with my compliments"

Jed sobered

'This is a wonderful break Mascot. But there's a long, hard road yet. For Mom's sake, I've got to make it. And the kids could certainly use a few pretties and an education, too."

'Did your mother approve of your coming to New York, Jed?"

"Mom seems to have the mistaken impression that I've got all kinds of horse sense and genius beside," Jed said drily "Maybe that's because I'm her first-born. She doesn't disapprove of anything I want to do"

"I think your mother must be a very smart woman Isn't this fun Jed? I've never had so much fun in my whole life!"

"Well," Jed hesitated, "this is all right for an evening's entertainment off and on But as a steady diet I don't think I could take a lot of noise and clatter for amusement"

'Old man'" Moleen wrinkled her nose at him Then she sighed "Do you remember how I told you I had to have money, and how important it was Lordie, I certainly didn't think that in ten days I'd be rubbing elbows with all these millionaires"

"You can hold your own with the best of 'em, Mascot." Jed assured her 'And don't you ever get the idea in your little head that any one matter who cares whether you are poor or rich"

'I love all this so, "Moleen said fearfully, "it scares me to think of ever having to give it up and live in a dump and never have pretty clothes again"

Jed frowned.

"Don't lose your sense of balance, little lady. I'm a little worried about this high society you're getting a taste of, if it's going to make you discontented for the rest of your life."

"Oh, well," Moleen sighed, "don't worry! I'll cross my bridges when I come to them. But, oh, Jed I'm so happy tonight!"

Jed smiled down on the little black head affectionately Moleen made him feel a million years old, and very, very wise He hoped Mignon would be able to steer her right He decided that if he got a chance he'd have a talk with Miss Laine about the inadvisability of giving one so young and excitable too much on a silver platter.

THANKS FOR THE CAMEL NOW, MISS CONCELLO, HOW ARE CHANCES FOR A STORY ON YOUR BIGGEST THRILL AS A STUNT AERIALIST?
OH, NO, LADIES FIRST. TONY, TELL HIM ABOUT YOUR FIRST TRIPLE SOMERSAULT IN THE AIR
WELL, YOU SEE, NO WOMAN, TO MY KNOWLEDGE, HAD EVER EXECUTED A TRIPLE, MID-AIR SOMERSAULT. I'LL NEVER FORGET THE FIRST TIME I TRIED IT UNDER THE BIG TOP."
". BECAUSE THIS STUNT REQUIRES GREATLY INCREASED SPEED, I HAD TO DEPEND ALMOST ENTIRELY ON AUTOMATIC TIMING."
"BUT AS I WHIRLED OFF INTO SPACE .. ONCE .. TWICE .. FOR A SPLIT-SECOND I PRACTICALLY LOST CONSCIOUSNESS."
". THREE TIMES . AND, I MADE IT! MY TIMING WAS PERFECT, AND ANOTHER 'FIRST PERFORMANCE' LEFT ME THRILLED AND SAFE!"
PHEW! I'LL STICK TO MY REPORTING
WELL, THAT'S NOTHING TO TERRELL'S BIG MOMENTS. TELL HIM ABOUT THE TIME SPARKY, OVER THERE, ALMOST FINISHED YOU
O.K.
"I HAD ALMOST COMPLETED MY ACT WITH 25 LIONS, WHEN SPARKY AND ANOTHER MALE WENT FOR EACH OTHER."
"TRYING TO BREAK IT UP, I WAS KNOCKED DOWN AND SPARKY TURNED ON ME. HE LOOKED AS BIG AS AN ELEPHANT FROM WHERE I WAS SPRAWLED THINGS LOOKED PRETTY BAD, BUT."

WELL, IT'S HARD TO SAY WHICH OF YOU HAS THE TOUGHEST JOB, BUT IT'S EASY TO SEE YOU BOTH NEED HEALTHY NERVES!
WELL, WE ARGUE ABOUT WHOSE JOB IS THE HARDEST, BUT WE SURE AGREE THAT WE CAN'T RISK SHAKY NERVES
AND YOU CAN BET THAT'S A BIG REASON WHY WE BOTH SMOKE CAMELS. THEY NEVER BOTHER OUR NERVES!
CAMELS SURE SET ME RIGHT—FROM EVERY ANGLE. AFTER A TURN IN THE BIG CAGE, I NEED A LIFT IN ENERGY AND I GET IT FROM A CAMEL. I FIND CAMELS AID MY DIGESTION TOO. I'VE SMOKED CAMELS FOR 16 YEARS. HAVE ONE, TONY?
YOU BET, TERRELL, THERE'S A BIG DIFFERENCE BETWEEN CAMELS AND OTHER KINDS—IN MILDNESS, IN TASTE, IN THE FEELING OF CONTENTMENT THEY GIVE—IN SO MANY WAYS!

"WE KNOW TOBACCO BECAUSE WE GROW IT—WE SMOKE CAMELS BECAUSE WE KNOW TOBACCO"—TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY

You have to know tobacco to raise the fine grades planter Joe Brewer grows every crop. He says, "Last year my best lots went to Camel. I smoke Camels. Most planters I know do. They know the finer tobaccos that go into Camels."

Calvin Wiggins, experienced planter, specializing in raising quality tobaccos, says "The best of my last crop was taken by Camel They paid top prices Most growers smoke Camels—we know they're made of costlier tobaccos."

"For a better cigarette, I always say smoke finer tobaccos" says Lee Mason, who grows the finer grades he speaks of—he's grown them for years. "I've seen the choicer tobaccos go to Camel many times That's why I smoke Camels."

DOROTHY BAKER WED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

FOR her marriage Saturday at 4:30 p. m. to Walter Traver Watson, Akron, Miss Dorothy Marie Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoy E. Baker, 139 Lind avenue, chose layers of silk net over bridal satin. The dress was made with a full skirt fashioned drindl style and extended in a long train. The bodice was made tight fitting with a squared neckline and a tiny ruching of net at the throat and around the long sleeves.

A four-yard veil was attached to a poke bonnet trimmed with tiny orange blossoms. The veil shortened to the virgin length falling to the shoulders in front. She carried a shower bouquet of white brides' roses, lilies-of-the-valley and gardenias.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Kathleen Baker, maid of honor, and Mrs. Marion O'Hara, bridesmaid. The attendants' gowns were made in the same style as the bride's only with short puff sleeves and a suggestion of a train in the floor-length skirts. Miss Baker's dress was shell pink and Mrs. O'Hara's was peach blossom.

Quaint topknot hats made of real flowers to match the arm bouquets carried by the attendants completed the costumes.

For the ceremony the altar and choir loft of the First Congregational church was decorated with palms, ferns, huckleberry foliage, two seven-branch candelabra and tall standards of white gladioli and hydrangea.

Nuptial Music.

Miss Louise Krause, organist, played appropriate nuptial music and Miss Jane Foltz, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Oh, Promise Me." Rev. Peter Young officiated. Miss Krause's selections were "Ave Maria," by Schubert; "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell; "Dreams," by McAmis, and "Liebestraum," by Liszt.

Tom Johnson, Marion, was best man and the ushers were Marion O'Hara, Larry O'Brien, Alden Laibl and John Kidder, Akron.

Mrs. Baker appeared in a gown of hi-light blue chiffon made redingote style over blush rose with matching accessories. The floor-length gown was set off with a corsage of orchids.

The bridegroom's mother appeared in a delphinium blue chiffon dress with a corsage of gardenias. Mr. Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Watson, Conneaut.

Buffet Party.

Fifty guests were entertained at a buffet supper and reception at the Women's Club following the ceremony. Mrs. Carl Weikert poured. For their southern motor trip Mrs. Watson wore a black and white suit with black and white accessories and a gardenia corsage. After July 15 the couple will be at home in Akron.

Out-of-town guests in the city Saturday for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Watson and the Misses Velma and Mary Watson, Conneaut; Arthur Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gosling, Mr. and Mrs. George Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wolfe, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler, Cuyahoga Falls; Paul Jackson, Magadore; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. George Arthur and Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth McRae, Conneaut; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Strome, Cleveland; A. A. Traver, Lima; Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, Bellefontaine; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Guthrie, Columbus; Miss Mabel Follette and Miss Mildred Watson, Erie, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Beardsley, Painesville, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Strome, Akron.

Miss Graham Wed To H. L. Chernoff At 10 a. m. Today

At 10 o'clock this morning in a very quiet ceremony Miss Melva Graham and Howard L. Chernoff were united in marriage. For the service, which was performed in Brooklyn, N. Y., Miss Graham wore a pale blue tailored suit with dubonnet accessories.

The bride, who until recently was employed in the advertising department of the Mansfield News-Journal, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Graham, Brooklyn. Mr. Chernoff was formerly employed at The Mansfield News-Journal and is now manager of the West Virginia radio network with headquarters at Station WCHS, Charleston, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Graham, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were the only attendants. Immediately following the ceremony the couple flew to Washington and they then left for a short wedding trip to Canada. They will make their home in Charleston.

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

Mrs. Gareld Wagner, Prospect street, recently entertained members of the R club at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Jeanette Page, Miss Naomi McGuire and Mrs. Hubert Dent. Mrs. Page was also feted with a handkerchief shower, and Mrs. Ira Ling, recent bride, was presented with a number of gifts. The next meeting will be a picnic July 8 at North Lake park.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Dressy Suit

Rosemary Lane

Soft fringe is the individual trimming used on this play suit worn by Rosemary Lane. The suit consists of white cotton shorts with front lacing, bolero jacket woven in shades of red, yellow, white and black, with fringed edge and vest, and with broad revers of soft yellow pique showing three large, self-covered buttons at the front. A sash of the same fringed fabric ties at the waist.

Two Affairs Given To Commemorate 25th Anniversary

Just 25 years after the solemn marriage ceremony was read, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kelley, 389 West Third street, celebrated with a family party to commemorate their silver wedding anniversary. The couple was married June 26, 1913, and last night they entertained with a family dinner party.

Relatives of the couple present for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kelley and Mrs. J. H. Friar and son, James, Milwaukee; Miss Julia Kelley, Mantiowoc; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jamison and son, Robert, Canton; Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Alerding, Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. William Marr, Barberton, and Robert Kelley, Boston, Mass., son of the celebrating couple.

Saturday night at Westbrook Country club, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley were host and hostess to 53 friends and relatives for a dinner-bridge party. Prizes were won by Mrs. O. C. McCormick, William Marr, Mrs. O. P. Anderson, and Mr. Alerding.

In addition to Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley have four children, John, Jane, Judy, and James, all at home.

Simplicity Marks Wedding Of Miss Tedrick, Frank Mattox

SIMPLICITY marked the quiet ceremony which was read at 2:30 p. m. yesterday afternoon at the Central Methodist Episcopal church to unite in marriage Miss Dorothy Jeanne Tedrick daughter of Theodore J. Tedrick 212 Penn avenue and Frank E. Mattox, son of Mrs. Mae E. Mattox, 41 Willow street. The brother of the bridegroom, Rev. Linton Mattox, read the service.

Miss Tedrick, who wore a gown of dainty double white net, was given in marriage by her father. The gown was made over taffeta in an informal floor-length with a tight bodice. The neck was cut sweetheart style and the sleeves were made long and tight in the leg of mutton style. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a juliet cap of shirred illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's father at Mr. Mattox's home on Willow street for relatives of the couple. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Mattox left for a week's trip through the east. Mrs. Mattox wore a two-piece off-white tweedskin dress with blue grosgrain ribbon trimming and matching dark blue accessories. Upon their return to Mansfield early next month they will be at home at 41 Willow street.

For the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Burneson, organist, played nuptial music including "Romance" by Svendsen, "Barcarolle" by Offenbach, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" by Saint-Saens and "Oh, Promise Me." The church altar was decorated with a background of palms with two baskets of mixed summer flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Neff, West Fourth street road, have just returned from the Sons of Union Veterans convention which was held this week-end in Columbus. Mr. Neff was named delegate to the national convention to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, early in September and Mrs. Neff will be alternate for the Women's Relief Corps.

Rev. P. H. Saleste Reads Marriage Vows 4 P. M.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon Rev. Paul H. Saleste pastor of St. John's Evangelical church, read the service which united in marriage Miss Helen E. Petres, daughter of J. P. Petres, and Paul W. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fox, 26 Hoffman avenue.

The bride wore a powder blue silk shadow lace dress and a picture hat with a corsage of Talisman roses and gypsophila. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie L. Petres, who wore pink lace with white accessories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. Willim J. VanHarlingen was best man.

After the ceremony Mrs. Fox entertained with a dinner for the immediate families and the couple then left for a Great Lakes trip. They will make their home at the Hoffman avenue address.

Quiet Ceremony Unites Couple at Parsonage

Miss Orpha Eilene Lutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavergne Lutz, 26 West Arch street and Donald Rexford Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Smith, Ontario, were married Saturday evening in a single ring ceremony. The service was read at the parsonage at 7 p. m. by Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church.

The bride wore blue chiffon. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith are graduates of the Springfield Township high school. They will be at home following a short wedding trip in Ontario.

New Formal

This filmy cotton lace formal might well be called the ideal summer evening gown. It is designed in the peasant manner with fitted bodice and full skirt. And it is posed over a petticoat slip of white sheeting, which is also used for the fluffy ruching trimming on the skirt and the crisp flowers forming the decolletage. The original model was designed by Gisela Bennati of Hollywood.

Exchange Nuptial Vows On Saturday

Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor of the St. John's Evangelical church, read the service at 11 a. m. Saturday which united in marriage Miss Marjorie Gortner and Peter Holzworth. The single ring ceremony was witnessed by Miss Violet O'Brien, maid of honor, and John P. Gortner, best man, brother of the bride.

Miss Gortner wore a two-tone rose dress with a lace jacket and white accessories with a mixed bouquet of roses, carnations and sweet peas and her maid of honor was clad in powder blue with white accessories.

Mrs. Dan O'Brien, 27 East Fourth street and Mrs. Helen Mier entertained yesterday for the couple who are taking an eastern trip before returning to Mansfield to make their home.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Goldie Gortner, near Bellville, and the bridegroom, who is employed at the Tappan Stove company, lived on South Diamond street.

CEREMONY PERFORMED BY REV. H. M. BRAKER

IMMEDIATELY following the morning worship services at the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday, Rev. Hayes M. Braker read the solemn ceremony which united in marriage Miss Dorothy Valeria Long and Rolland Glen McAllister. Miss Long is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Long, 44 Henry street, and Mr. McAllister is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Jones, 334 West Sixth street.

The church altar was decorated with bankings of palms, ferns, white roses and baskets of garden flowers. Two seven-branch candelabra furnished the light for the service. For her wedding Miss Long wore a gown of white marquisette trimmed on the sleeves and skirt with white satin bows. The gown was simply made with a shirred waist and full toe-length skirt. Her veil was shoulder length and attached to a satin juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and roses tied with satin ribbon. Her only jewelry was a gold initialed necklace, a wedding gift from the bridegroom.

She was attended by Mrs. Dorothy Weber, Tiffin, who wore a white marquisette gown like the bride's with a picture hat and white accessories. Her bouquet was of white roses and gardenias tied with pink satin ribbon.

Nuptial music was played by Miss Edna May Boswell, organist. Her selections included variations on "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Oh, Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly."

Paul Kifert was best man and ushers were Leonard E. Long and Oliver McAllister.

After a family dinner served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McAllister left for a trip to New York and Washington. After July 5 they will be at home at 260 South Main street. For traveling Mrs. McAllister wore pink lace with white accessories.

Out-of-town guests present for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weber, Tiffin; Miss Gladys Ann Garber, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Roeliff Loomis, Shelby; Bert Long, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCarron and family, Miss Mary Katherine Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Long and family, all of Bellville.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER.

A bon voyage party was given recently by Mrs. Joseph Morganstern, 4 Glenwood Heights, in honor of her great aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman. The affair was a family dinner at which the honoree was presented with a number of going away gifts. Mrs. Zimmerman is going to Bristol, Va., where she will visit her son, George and his family during the summer.

Akron Man Marries Galion Girl Here Sunday Afternoon

Of interest to Mansfield people is the marriage of Miss Thelma Dill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dill, Galion, to Roger B. Farver, Akron, son of Mrs. Emmitt Mason, Vermilion. The ceremony was performed yesterday at 12:30 p. m. by Rev. Grover E. Swoyer at the First English Lutheran church.

The bride wore a white lace floor-length gown with a shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marjory Dill, Columbus, as maid of honor. The maid of honor wore a floor-length blue chiffon gown with a short veil attached with flowers. Her bouquet was of pink roses and delphinium.

Robert Dill, Columbus, a brother of the bride, was best man. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the Susie Janis home to 17 members of the families. Mrs. Farver has worked in Mansfield for the past several years and Mr. Farver is employed at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company. The couple will make their home in Akron.

Pennsylvania Employes Have 10th Annual Picnic

The 10th annual picnic of the Pennsylvania railroad employes was held Saturday evening at the North Lake park pavilion. The Women's Aid was in charge of arrangements. Following the supper which was served at 6:30 p. m. games were played.

A tiered cake was used as a table decoration. Mrs. H. B. Enders presented it. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. John Banks and son, Jimmy, Canton, and Mrs. H. R. Harrington and children, Frances, Lewis and Howard. This was the final meeting of the Women's Aid for the season.

False Pride Spoils Many Friendships

By VIRGINIA LEE

There are a number of wise little sayings about the matter of quarrels. "Kiss and make up," is one; "Let not the sun go down upon your wrath," is another.

Between girls and between men or boys there seldom is any false pride, although you do find folk who are "too proud" to speak first or make the first move, toward friendly relations, and who therefore lose some good pals.

But between men and women, girls and boys, there is much silly nonsense. For instance, if a girl has been hateful and unjust to a girl friend she can easily tell her so and ask forgiveness, but if she quarrels with a boy, she is afraid to make any steps toward reconciliation because he may feel she is "running after him."

That is all nonsense. If you have quarreled with anyone, male or female, black, white, red or yellow, and have said things you shouldn't —which is pretty likely to be the case—tell her so, and don't wait to have her come to you first. Even if you have told a person "just what you thought of her for her own good," you needn't continue telling. Say what you have to say and then try to be friends again.

I think that answers your question, T. S You say you and the boy had a "silly quarrel." Then tell him so in some way and say you are sorry for your part of it. If he wants to be friends again he will respond nicely. If he doesn't—well, you have done your part and need not feel too badly. It will merely show that he is of an unforgiving disposition —an undesirable trait in a pal— or that he now isn't sufficiently interested in you to resume the friendship, which, after all, is what you wanted to know, isn't it? Just forget about him and make other friends which, I know, is more easily said than done, but which can be done, nevertheless.

My Neighbor Says:

Eggs laid by moths may be in clothing packed away for the winter. From these eggs come tiny worms that play havoc. A chemical called paradichloro-benzene known as PDB will kill moths in any stage. The garment and chemical must be shut up in a tight compartment.

Appointments of guest room and its adjoining bath are carried out in a color scheme of peach and French blue with great success. Unusually attractive are the damask towles, both the large and the smaller hand size. These are peach color in a satin striped design that is very effective. The large, soft, fluffy bath towels and wash cloths as well as the bath sheets are in peach color with a large monogram worked in French blue.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

AS JUNIOR finished his plaint, made all the more impressive because it was delivered in the whisper which was the result of my caution, I realized for the thousandth time the great gulf there is between the ideas of adults and children, a gulf which cannot be bridged by the children themselves, except as they are led and trained by their parents and teachers, who must be responsible for the spanning.

Their grandmother had been selfish—no, not that; she is incapable of selfishness where her idolized grandchildren are concerned. But she had been thoughtless in demanding all of Dicky's attention when the small boys were so anxious for his company.

But I could not voice that criticism to the children, and I realized that I would have my hands full in making them see their grandmother's point of view as well as their own without indicting her of thoughtlessness.

"Suppose we sit down and talk it over," I said softly, sparring for delay, and when they gallantly had put me into an easy chair, and then ranged themselves, one on either side of me, I waited for almost a second before I began to talk to them.

"Have you considered, boys," I asked at last, "that Granzie is Daddy's mother, just the same as I am yours?"

They eyed me soberly, then both head nodded.

"That's true," they said in unison.

"You must remember another thing," I went on, "that when mothers get to be old ladies like Granzie, they want to talk to their children even more than they did when the children were little. And Granzie hasn't seen your father very much this summer."

Sorry For Words.

"She's seen him a lot more than we have," Junior averred hastily and truthfully, and Roderick brought in a corollary, "You bet your boots she has."

"But don't you realize," I said quickly, "that you have a long life before you to see your father, and that Granzie hasn't?"

If I had taken a second thought, I never would have thus interpreted to them the consciousness of approaching age, the treasuring of each chance for talk with a loved one, which I have noticed in Dicky's mother. They are too young for such shadowing thoughts, and I keenly regretted my precipitancy when they sprang to their feet, their mouths agape, their eyes filled with horror.

Boys Impressed.

"I don't mean anything of the kind," I said quickly, so angry at myself that I could hardly articulate the words "Granzie will live a great many years yet, we hope. I only said that because I wanted to make you understand how almost all old people feel."

But their faces refused to lighten.

"Oh! but that must be awful!" Roderick murmured, and Junior faced me with a sudden resolute look in his eyes.

"I'll tell you what," he said; "we won't talk to Dad any more when Granzie's in the room We'll give her all the time."

Roderick was only the fraction of a second behind him.

"That's the stuff," he said extravagantly. "We'll keep mum as oysters."

"That is very nice of you," I said, "but it is rather foolish talk Your grandmother is very keen, and she would wonder at once why you were not talking. She might suspect the real reason, and that would make her very miserable."

They nodded again.

"Yes, I can see she wouldn't want folks to know she felt that way," Junior said, "But what do you want us to do, Mums?"

Romantic Eyes Need Attention

By JULIET SHELBY

Central Press Writer on Beauty

This year's hats, with their alluring veils and flower-strewn crowns, call for romantic eyes Perhaps you are one of those fascinaters who has always been complimented on her gorgeous orbs. If so, you'll certainly want to keep the boys in their rhapsodies, and with your eyes shining and no telltale crow's feet, lines, hollows or puffs, you will have them where you want them.

Unfortunately the least tiredness, strain or headache shows up around the eyes. Those three enemies of loveliness, lines, hollows and puffs immediately put in an appearance. So to be a really sensible charmer you should try to set aside about 15 minutes a day to give yourself an around the eye routine

To give your skin a chance to respond to the treatment you should first free it of all soil. Give it a thorough cleansing with either your special brand of cream or a bland soap and tepid water.

If you are using a cream this is a very good cleansing method Moisten a pad of absorbent cotton in cold water Squeeze it dry and dip it into your skin tonic Then add plenty of cream and, with this, cleanse your face and neck well Apply it starting at the base of your neck from the center, to left and to right, working upward to the chin. At the point of the chin smooth upward, following the line of the contour, to the muscle in front of your ear. Then start again at the point of your chin following the line from your mouth to nose to under eye; from the under eye go outward to the temple. Lastly go over the eyes very gently and with an upward movement on the forehead Cleanse your nose, working from the bridge of the nose to the tip and the around the mouth

Apply Cream Around Eyes.

After your cleansing, apply eye cream or a rich lubricating cream, around your eyes. Now you are ready for your line-erasing routine Put your thumbs on your cheek bones and curve the first fingers of both hands, pressing them above the eyebrows Knead lightly but firmly in six rhythmic movements to the outward corner of your eyes Repeat this ten times with each eye.

Close your eyes and lightly place your hands over them. Gently press against the eyeball so that you see black. Raise your whole eye and draw your fingers slightly outward. As you remove your hands open your eyes for a few seconds. Repeat this ten times also.

"The Authority on Authorities"

A TIME TO SHOOT

IF YOU have made an insufficient bid and know therefore that your partner will have to pass on his next turn, as the laws prescribe, you are in a tough spot. Whatever you now bid, in correcting your error, is pretty sure to be the final contract. That is no time to go timid. Take the bit in your teeth and go the limit. If the information from your partner's previous action makes a game seem anywhere within reach, you will generally profit by bidding it without a qualm

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Here North opened the bidding with 1-Diamond, East called 1-Heart, South 1-No Trump, West 2-Spades, North and East passed and South bid 2-Diamonds The insufficient bid was called to his attention and he went into a study After deliberating from every angle, his final decision was 3-Diamonds. The opponents were satisfied to have the hand play at a less than game contract, so passed.

South's contention was that, as he had given as strong a bid as no trump over East's heart call, North should have taken some action over West's spade bid. For that reason, South feared no trump with no stopper and was equally afraid of 5-Diamonds. However, they made five without any difficulty.

Sandwiches Pickles
Fruit Cake
Coffee in Thermos
Cold Water or Fruit Juice

Now is the time of picnics. I like to eat out of doors all year around, except, maybe, in a blizzard, or when the thermometer hits around zero. But now is the accepted time of picnics, so it is timely to give you a few not too usual sandwich recipes. Maybe you have found, as I have, that if you put the cream and sugar into the coffee before you fill the thermos bottle, it does not taste as good Or maybe you and yours prefer your coffee black, anyhow But I don't, and I take cream to a picnic in a little glass jar with tight screw top, and wrap it in a cloth wrung out of cold water and with several folds of paper on the outside of that. Lump sugar always seems to me handiest for the picnic lunch. Of course, if you make a fire and boil or percolate your coffee over it, you don't need this suggestion This picnic however, is like my lunch this noon, in a place where you can't build a fire and cook, but just sit out of doors and eat a ready made lunch.

Today's Recipes.

SAVORY SANDWICH FILLING—One pound American cheese, one-fourth pound dried beef, one cup condensed tomato soup Run cheese and beef through food chopper then moisten with soup This filling keeps moist and fresh if stored in refrigerator.

THEATER

WHEN SONJA HEINE was on her personal appearance tour, her most popular number was the Babes in Toyland scene in which she was dressed as a doll and her skaters represented toyland figures. Because of this appeal a similar scene will be incorporated in her new picture "My Lucky Star" It will be an Alice in Wonderland episode in which the sturdy little star will appear as Alice. All of the famous Lewis Carroll figures will be in it—the Mad Hatter, the Tortoise, the March Hare, the Walrus Tweedledum and Tweedledee, the Mock Turtle and all of the other beloved characters from the fantasy. It will be an unusual scene, with Alice and all of her friends on skates—and the Earl Carroll influence will meet the Lewis Carroll influence

Dramatic Chapter.

"Yellow Jack" the Madison attraction, is something more than a happy vehicle for popular Robert Montgomery, it is an heroic and fairly authentic chapter in American history, dramatized and well acted. One of the noteworthy effects of the Spanish American war was that it led to the United States going into action against the malarial and yellow fevers that were the deadly nemesis of Cuba "Yellow Jack" is the story of the commission, made up of scientific men and nurses who went to Cuba after the war, to locate, if possible, the cause and carrier of the deadly fever A happy-go-lucky soldier and a serious-minded nurse played by Montgomery and Virginia Bruce, provide the romantic theme and the climax. The picture has been well received in other cities, playing two weeks in a number of theaters.

* * *

Barry Drama at Ohio.

A warm enchanting Katharine Hepburn is seen in "Holiday," playing Linda in the Philip Barry romance of two sisters and a gay young man whose lives are interwoven in a swift drama. Cary Grant, who is one of Hollywood's best bets in gay and whimsical comedy, is the young man who is engaged to one sister while the other one is in love with him With the one he knows that he'd have all the money he wanted but that his life would be cut to her pattern, stuffy and conservative, while with the other sister, he would have a gay comrade for whatever adventure life brought. Doris Nolan plays Julia and Lew Ayers, always a likeable player, is the brother of the two girls. "Holiday" is the Ohio theater attraction.

Shirley's First Film.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, June 28.

AUGURIES OF a rather conflicting nature are noted in this day's astrological map, with benefits of a most gratifying nature as well as perplexities, confusions and inharmonies. There is likely to be a demonstration of the latter in employment or in connection with superiors or those in authority.

Those whose birthday it is may look forward to a year in which there may be some conflicts in the affairs, with perplexities and disturbances as well as benefits and lucrative operations. Occupations or relaxations with superiors may be subject to definite friction, with critical results. At the same time there may be benefits from influential or elderly persons Change or travel with new plans and contacts may mark the year.

A child born on this day may be quick, fiery, turbulent and wilful. However, it may have a warm, generous and sociable nature.

Coffee pots should be scoured each time they are used. A hurried rinse is not sufficient if you wish to have good coffee.

and still one of the best she ever made It was this picture which set the whole world of picture fans to "oh-ing" over a curley haired youngster, and in less than two years from that time she became the world's greatest box office attraction, bar none. In spite of the fact that she's supposed to be at the "awkward age" and losing her baby teeth, her name in lights still spells millions for the box offiee. Adolphe Menjou is the race track gambler who takes Shirley for security on a race track bet. On the same bill at the Majestic is "Texas Rangers" with Fred MacMurray and Jean Parker.

* * *

Jane Follows Shirley.

In one of Miss Temple's early pictures—probably the first in which she was featured, another little girl made her film debut in a "brattish" role. And that little girl also began a career that led to success It was Jane Withers who has continued to play mischievous roles which are now tempered with a more likeable personality. In "Checkers," appearing at the Ritz, she is a hanger-on at the race tracks, turning jockey when necessity demands it. A human and humorous romance between Stuart Erwin and Una Merkle is encouraged by Cupid Withers. The spectacular musical film, "Vogues of 1938" brings Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett to the Ritz screen, with the two features continuing through Tuesday.

BEWARE
Of
Fly-By-Night Dry Cleaners

Solicitors for fly-by-night, out-of-town, dry cleaning companies, claiming to operate branch offices here, are attempting to interest Mansfield people in their services.

Many reports have come to this office indicating that both the solicitors and their companies have been guilty of fraudulent and misleading statements.

Among the complaints which have come to us was one from a woman who told of a favorite evening dress which had been ruined and which the company refused to replace. Of course the reason for the refusal was that the company was not financially responsible.

Ultimately you will pay more in disappointment, ruined garments, poor service and inferior workmanship.

Mansfield dry cleaning establishments are conducted on a sound business basis. They are part and parcel of this community—they carry insurance to safeguard themselves and you against loss. They are conducted by reputable men who value your patronage and your business friendship. They are here to stay. Patronize them.

Let's Make Ice Cream For Hot Days

By PAULINE SCHOFIELD
Home Service Department, Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

Hot summer days and thoughts about cool foods invariably bring to mind new frozen dessert creations. Ice cream can be the perfect dessert for a formal party or the casual after thought in a family emergency It tops the list for good looks, yet is packed with practical food values

Maple Pecan Ice Cream.

15 marshmallows
½ cups cane and maple sugar
½ cup water
1½ tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup pecans, cut finely
½ pint whiping cream
Pinch salt.

Put marshmallows, syrup, and water in pan and steam over hot water until marshmallows are melted. Remove from range, add lemon juice, pecans, and salt and set aside to cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, add the cream whipped and put into tray to freeze.

Toasted Coconut Ice Cream.

2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup cream, whipped
4 drops almond extract
½ cup shred cocoanut toasted

Combine ice cream powder and sugar. Add milk very gradually, stirring until dissolved Fold in whipped cream and almond Turn into tray, adding cocoanut during the third stirring Makes about ¾ quart

English Toffee Ice Cream.

1 can sweetened condensed milk
½ cup cold coffee infusion
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
1½ cups whipping cream (whipped)
¼ pound chocolate-covered English toffee (ground)

Combine milk, coffee infusion, and vanilla extract and blend thoroughly. Then fold in the whipped cream and the ground toffee. Pour in freezing tray of refrigerator. Stir twice during the freezing period

Virginia Strawberry Mold.

Cream 1 pound butter until soft; gradually add 2½ cups sugar; cream smooth Add 1 quart berries hulled, washed, and quartered, and 1 cup broken pecans. Mix well; fold in 3 stiff-beaten egg whites, line dish with broken vanilla wafers, add layer of strawberry mixture; continue alternate layers, having broken wafers on top. Chill 12 hours. Cut into squares; serve with whipped cream, and garnish with a whole strawberry.

Rhubard and Strawberry Ice.

1 pint fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains of salt
1½ cups sugar
½ cup evaporated milk undiluted

Clean and wash the berries and mash Put rhubarb and berries through sieve or colander Add all other ingredients, pour into freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze Serve in sherbet glasses immediately Serves 6

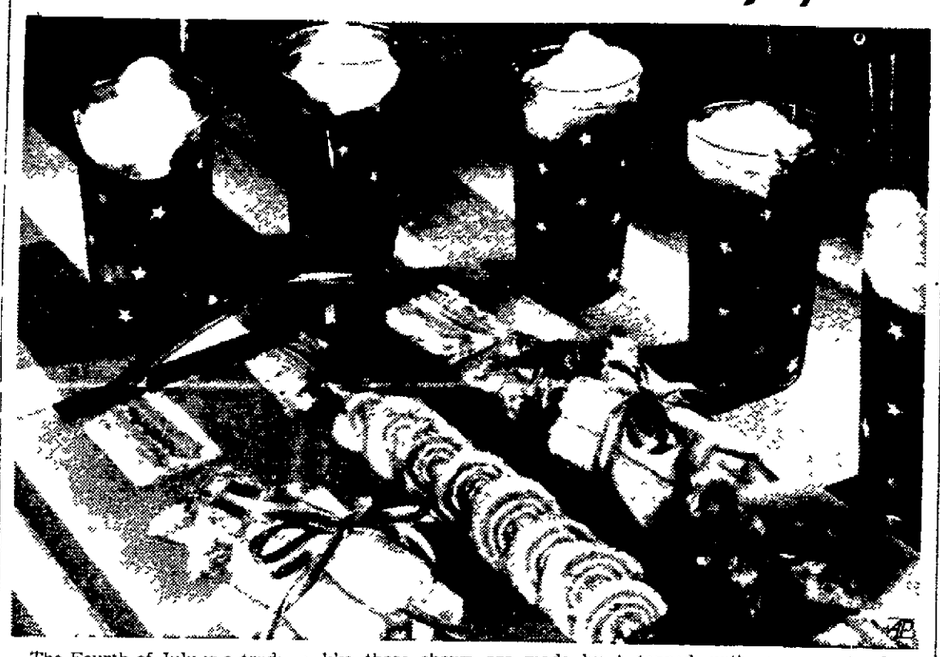
Peanut Brittle Bisque.

2 Tablespoons minute tapioca
2 Cups milk, scalded
½ Teaspoon salt
4 Tablespoons light corn syrup
2 Tablespoons sugar
2 Egg whites
1 Cup cream whipped
1 Teaspoon vanilla
½ Pound peanut brittle finely crushed or ground

Add minute tapioca to milk and cook in double boiler 15 minutes or until tapioca is clear and mixture thickened stirring frequently Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve Add salt and corn syrup and mix thoroughly Cool Add sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff Fold into cold tapioca mixture Fold in cream vanilla and peanut brittle Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible

Use freshly-made coffee of double strength for iced coffee Pour it while it is steaming over cracked ice placed in tall glasses Add a dash of whipped cream and sprinkle the cream with cinnamon for a decorative touch

Directions For A Safe Fourth of July



The Fourth of July is a traditionally favorite day for all varieties of celebrations, and with some of the dainty canapes and iced coffee as shown above you can have a bang-up party without the danger of explosives to mar the occasion. Pinwheels like those shown are made by slicing a loaf of bread lengthwise spreading it with jelly or cream cheese, rolling, wrapping and chilling, then cutting crosswise The fire crackers are slices of bread filled with a sandwich spread, rolled and topped with a pimento fuse. Those stars were made with a cookie cutter spread with creamed cheese and nuts and topped with stuffed olive and the stripes are plain slices of bread spread with liverwurst paste and topped with strips of pimiento

Celebrate Independence With Gay, Patriotic Get-Togethers

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

Salute the Fourth this year with a tea or cocktail party Trays of colorful canapes and baskets of intriguing sandwiches will give a sparkle to the serving table from which iced coffee tea, punch or cocktails are dispensed

Decorations of course, will go patriotic. Arrange a centerpiece of red, white and blue flowers in a low basket or bowl for instance Or stick silk flags in a flower holder, set in a shallow dish You might even borrow the children's toy cannons and soldiers to make up a fort

Canapes, usually the "eat-in one-bite" morsels, give your imagination a chance to run rampant on shapes and flavors. You should make dozens and dozens because guests will like these tid-bits.

If hot canapes are on the menu, it's advisable to bake them in installments, so the supply will always be warm For surprises, wrap one-inch pastry strips around small frankfurters, tiny hamburger balls, or squares of ham Bake for seven minutes They are appealing partners for hot or cold beverages

Another suggestion —spread a half-inch sheet of biscuit dough with savory creamed crab tuna, or ham mixture Cover with another thin sheet of dough Cut into one-inch squares and quickly press the edges together with a fork giving several pricks to the top. Pop these into a moderate oven five minutes before they are to be served.

Biscuits an inch in diameter are excellent containers for caviar and anchovies While the biscuits are piping hot, remove the centers and stuff them Creamed mushrooms and ham may also be used

For a Norwegian angle, spread toast bits with sardines mixed with mayonnaise, minced green peppers and parsley, and a dash of Worcestershire sauce Garnish with chopped beets and cress Or mix sardines with lemon juice, minced olives and parsley Spread the combination over crackers and garnish with chopped olives and pimientos

To lend a gay note to the table, cover a large platter with crisp cress and top it with chilled shrimps on wooden picks. At either end of the platter set a bright pottery bowl Fill one with mayonnaise and the other with chili sauce and catsup, mixed. Outline with small cheese biscuits and toast points covered with Roquefort cheese

A tray of icy-crisp vegetables, contrasting in colors and shapes, gives a cooling effect Heap carrot strips, cauliflower flowerets, cucumber fingers, radish roses and spring onions Center the tray with a large eggplant or cabbage, hollowed out and filled with a small bowl of cocktail sauce. The guests may then dip their own.

Keep a full cooky jar for the youngsters Plain sugar, cocoanut, ginger or chocolate cookies are very good—and easy to make You can save time by dropping the dough from the tip of a spoon onto a greased baking sheet or by spreading a thin layer of dough in a shallow, greased pan and cutting it into squares after it is baked.

To help prevent meringue on cream or fruit-filled pies from shrinking during cooking, see that it covers the entire top of the pie and touches the rim of the crust. Bake the meringue for about 15 minutes in a slow oven and keep it out of a draft while it is cooling

Never put woodenware directly over the heat to dry. That causes the wood to warp, and perhaps to crack. Thoroughly dry it, however, before putting it in a cupboard, since it may mildew if you store it too soon. Let it stand in a room of moderate temperature, or near the stove.

Chill caramels before you remove their paper coverings If the caramels are warm the papers are apt to stick tenaciously to the candy

Kitchen Hints

Summertime means tea stains. To remove such stains from linens moisten them with cold water and cover them with borax. Let the linen stand 20 minutes or so, then pour a kettle of boiling water through the stain, holding the kettle about two feet above the stain. Continue until the stain disappears. This process may be used to remove fruit stains.

Breakfast or luncheon note: Select long, slender rolls, cut them in half and remove part of the centers. Spread the hollowed cases with butter. Break one egg into each half roll, sprinkle it with salt, pepper and celery salt and add a dot of butter. Bake or broil until a white film forms over the top. Rolls may also be used as cases for creamed or buttered foods.

To prepare mint for storing in a covered jar, wash it well in boiling water, then shake off as much water as possible and spread the mint in a shallow pan. Heat it slowly until it is well dried, then break it up with the fingers and put it in the jar. You'll have mint that may be used for flavoring sauces, meats or salads.

Want a piquant, crusty covering for your meat loaf? Mix half a cup of brown sugar, three tablespoons of catsup, one teaspoon nutmeg and one teaspoon of dry mustard and spread it over the loaf just before putting it in the oven. This amount will cover a two-pound loaf.

Sprinkle fritters with confectioner's sugar—to give them a rich glaze. As soon as they are fried apply the sugar generously. Then broil the fritters under a low heat—or bake them until the sugar melts into the desired coating. Waffles and pancakes may be glazed this way, too.

Do your meringues fail? Add a fourth of teaspoonful of cream of tartar for each two egg whites used. Combine the cream of tartar with the sugar called for in the recipe. The meringue may be added to the mixture when it is stiff enough to form in peaks.

Here are the quantities of several kinds of nuts you should buy in the shell if you want to get three and a half cups of nutmeats: Almonds, three and a half pounds; filberts, two and a fourth pounds; peanuts, a pound and a half; pecans and English walnuts, two and a half pounds.

Flavor changes: Add chopped pimientos to cooked peas or green beans. Mix chopped green peppers and onion in egg omelet. Put a few diced sweet pickles in fish loaves.

Keep a bit of starch handy in the refrigerator during the summer to freshen summer clothes when you press them.

It Was A Lucky Day When We Installed A Gas Refrigerator

These pages from a diary tell the story of gas refrigeration's lasting satisfaction. Year after year, even the earliest Servel Electrolux models continue to operate as silently and as economically as the day they were installed. There are no moving parts in the freezing unit to lose efficiency or become noisy — nothing to require costly upkeep. Install a new Servel Electrolux in your home now — and save more for more years.
